

RAIL MEN'S HEADS DEFY U. S. RAIL BOARD SUMMONS

Strike Leaders Ignore Citation: Subpoena Issued for Shopmen's Chief.

lated to any carrier or employee or subordinate officials of organization thereof, may upon its own motion, after due notice and hearing to all persons interested, determine whether in its opinion such violation has occurred, and make public its decision in such manner as it may better be made. If after a decision by the board a carrier should act contrary to the decision, as, for example, if the carrier should pay less than the wage fixed, or maintain less favorable working conditions than those proposed by the board, it might be appropriate for the board to hold a hearing under section 212.

But it will certainly be acknowledged by the board and by the carriers that if a carrier should decide to lay off numerous or all employees or suspend all work or certain employees on the ground that it could not afford to pay for their services, at wages and under the conditions fixed by the board, the board would not regard such an act upon the part of the carrier as a violation of its decision.

NO VIOLATION IF MEN QUIT, JEWELL CLAIMS.
In like manner, if the employees decide that they cannot afford to continue to render service under the conditions fixed in a decision of the board, the act of such employees in suspending work is NOT a violation of the decision of the board.

Any other construction of the transportation act and of the powers of the board, would be in violation of the express provisions of the act, and it is respectfully suggested that any action of Congress purporting to grant such powers to the board, would be in violation of the Constitution of the United States.

A compulsory limitation upon the right to control one's own property may well be within the power of our government, because all rights of property are creations of law. But a compulsory limitation upon the right to control one's own labor is not within the power of our government, because this right is a natural right and is protected by the thirteenth amendment of the Constitution, which provides that involuntary servitude shall not exist within the United States.

Therefore Congress did not and cannot grant authority to any one to impose terms and conditions of labor upon the employees of the various transportation systems, which these employees individually or collectively refuse to accept. It was pointed out by Judge Page of the United States District Court that which is determined to be a just and reasonable wage or rule shall thereafter be the wage or rule as between the carrier and its employees, and upon which either may maintain an action in the courts.

DECISIONS OF BOARD HELD ONLY ADVISORY.
In the language of the court "the decisions of the Labor Board are only advisory." The organizations of the railway shop craft employees have received a vote upon the question of the willingness of these employees to continue to render service under the conditions and changed working conditions proposed by the Labor Board, and under the practices of contracting out work adopted by the carriers, despite the disapproval of the board. Most employees have voted almost unanimously not to work under such wages and conditions. It should be noted that they never have accepted any of these terms, but have only remained at work under non-acceptable rules, temporarily under protest, during the period necessary to determine their course of action.

NO FORCE TO COMPEL MEN TO WORK.
In this connection it should be pointed out for the additional consideration of the board:

1—That even assuming that such decisions were in accord with the requirements of the act, they should not be given constitutionally any force to compel men to work in the service of others, and

2—That a refusal to continue to render service under wages and working conditions which are not acceptable is not a violation of any decision of the board or of any law.
If it is the intention of the board to direct the employees to remain at work, under non-acceptable wages and working conditions, such order is void, both because it is not within the powers of the board and because it is in violation of the constitution of the United States.

BOTH FACTIONS BUSY WITH PLANS FOR STRIKE.
CHICAGO, June 30.—Preparations for the strike of 400,000 railroad shopmen, scheduled for 10:00 a. m. tomorrow, were continued today by both railroads and unions.

No Cause for Complaint, Says Board's Chairman

CHICAGO, June 30.—(By the Associated Press).—Ben W. Hooper, chairman of the labor board, last night issued a statement declaring that "it is evident to every student of the situation that the railway labor organizations have no just cause for serious complaint at the treatment they have received at the hands of the federal wage tribunals during the war period and since."

The statement follows in part: The people of the United States are sick and tired of having railway transportation, and traffic periodically interrupted by controversies between railway managements and employees. It was this feeling which moved Congress to enact the Transportation Act of 1920.

The right to strike and to use a private business is quite a different thing from the right to strike to choke and obstruct the flow of interstate commerce in this vast continental nation.

Railway transportation is not a business, it is a public utility to the very existence of our republic and to the individual well-being of every citizen. I do not hesitate to make the prediction that the nation will never be a successful railroad strike of any considerable proportions of importance in this country. The people will not stand for it.

THERE MUST BE PEACE.
There must be peace on the railroads. This can not be obtained by leaving the carriers free to impose unjust conditions upon the employees or by permitting the employees by organizations, however powerful, to impose unfair conditions upon the carriers, and unbearable burdens upon the public. Such a system simply means industrial war and this will result in disaster to the parties and the people.

Any tribunal having a jurisdiction similar to that of the railroad labor board will make mistakes, but the fact that some body criticizes the action of the board does not even raise a presumption that a mistake has been made. In these strenuously contested disputes before this board, somebody is always dissatisfied with the result.

NO CAUSE FOR COMPLAINT.
But it is evident to every student of the situation that the railway labor organizations have no just cause for serious complaint at the treatment they have received at the hands of federal wage tribunals during the war period and since.

The wages fixed by the recent decisions of this board will purchase more than the wages received by them prior to the war. In other words, their wages have increased by a larger percentage than has the cost of living. In some instances the increase is strikingly notable. Now that the decreases have come, the employees should be glad to sports and accept the reduction.

Let it be understood that the board is convinced at this time that it has made no mistake and committed no injustice in its recent decision on rates and wages. The board has endeavored to conform to the requirements of the law and has established a schedule of wages higher than those prevailing, as a result, in other industries.

The employees do have one substantial grievance against certain of the carriers, and that is the contracting out railway employment to so-called independent contractors. This is not simply a labor grievance. It is a public grievance. This policy carried to its legitimate end destroys the labor articles of the transportation industry.

Railroads advertised for "guards" in Chicago.
The executives also contemplated plans to throw all the shop work in the country under the contract system in case of a strike.

The union chiefs prepared last-minute orders for the men in case the strike should become effective. These orders included instructions for picketing and conducting the strike in an orderly and peaceful manner.

Although the railroad managers were certain there would be no interruption in traffic in case a strike should materialize, preparations were being made to handle freight by fleets of motor trucks and by waterway.

J. P. Haynes, traffic director of the Chicago Association of Commerce, has left for New York to confer with authorities for conducting the proposed motor truck fleet. All trucks and boats used during the traffic tieup of 1920 are listed and will be used in case of emergency, Haynes stated.

Officials of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks refused to comment on the strike vote being taken in that organization. It was reported, however, that the clerks had voted against strike while the freight handlers in the same organization were for a walkout. A meeting will be held at Cincinnati Saturday to discuss the situation.

COAST RAILROAD WORKERS READY TO JOIN TIEUP

125,000 Men on the Pacific Division Affected by Strike Vote.

Orders for a strike to become effective tomorrow at 10 a. m. were received yesterday at the local headquarters of the Federation of Railroad Shop Workers from national headquarters. The strike will affect 15,000 railroad shopmen on the Pacific Coast, working in the Southern Pacific, Santa Fe and Western Pacific shops in California, Oregon, Washington and Nevada. It is declared by L. S. Gordon, secretary of the Federation of Shop Employees.

It is stated that if the maintenance of way men and signal men will be affected on the Pacific Coast. The maintenance of way men have voted to strike, but the order is held up pending the outcome of a conference at Chicago today.

Secretary Gordon of the Shop Employees' Federation said yesterday: "We have our strike orders. It is known that more than 96 per cent of the men in the shop crafts and maintenance of way departments voted to strike."

Gordon stated that the shop workers have the assurance of the engineers that they will not be able to operate their engines for long without putting them in the shops. The engineers, he said, would not make any light repairs, with the result that within a few weeks the rolling stock of all the railroads in the United States will be in a sad state of repair.

Gordon also pointed out the practical impossibility of replacing the striking shopmen. Skilled mechanics, he said, who are unfamiliar with railroad work could not hope to step into the railroad shops and attend to the highly specialized sort of work needed for locomotives and other rolling stock.

Russ Ask Credit of 3 Billion Rubles
THE HAGUE, June 30 (By the Associated Press).—The Russian representatives at the conference here on Russian affairs have asked the conference for credits of 3,224,000,000 gold rubles for transport purposes, agriculture, industries, commerce and banks.

'Count Cost,' Warns Santa Fe Official
SAN BERNARDINO, June 30.—Warning to 2100 men involved in the railroad strike order here was posted late yesterday by local officials, acting under instructions of A. C. Walls, vice-president.

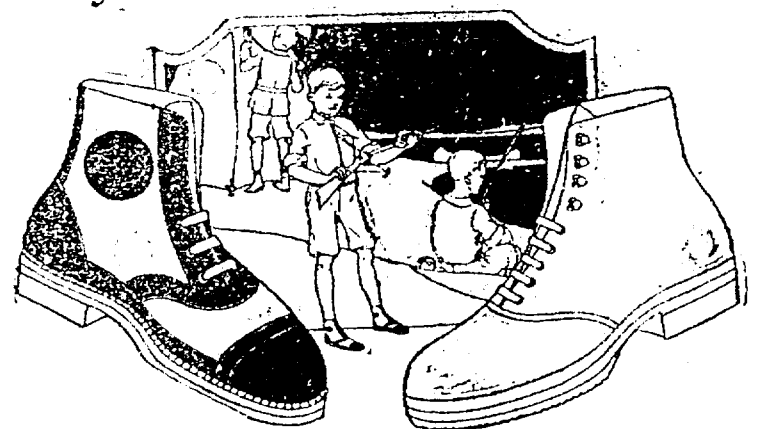

"I beg that you will count the cost before complying with this order," said Walls statement, referring to the strike order. "The strike is not one against the Santa Fe railway but against the findings of the United States Labor Board, a tribunal representative of all the people of this country."

The vice-president concluded his statement with the promise that "men who stay at work will be afforded full protection."

ROTARY STRIDES DISCUSSED AT GROUP MEETING

Flags of 26 Nations Show
Progress Since Inception of Clubs.

In a room decorated with the flags of twenty-six nations where Rotary clubs have been established, the Oakland club yesterday held its "group meeting" when the group headed by Charles Monroe had charge of the meeting. According to a speech made by Monroe the flags were used to cause the members of the organization to visualize the strides Rotary has made since its inception in Chicago some years ago. Behind the speakers' platform was draped the stars and stripes, and two wax figures of boy scouts indicated the boys' work done by the organization.

Rabbi Rudolph Coffee delivered the address of the day, telling of the work of the Travelers' Aid society, of which he is the local president. The group in charge of today's meeting, of which Rabbi Coffee is a member, has taken for its "achievement" for the year the donation to the Aid society, in monthly offerings, of $250 for the year.

Short talks were made by Harrison Robinson appealing for assistance in expanding the activities of the Chamber of Commerce, and John Clement, seventy-nine, a veteran member of the club, who recited a flag poem he wrote when nine years of age.

Japanese Farmers Face Land Problem

OSAKA, Japan, May 24.—(By Mail.)—As in most countries with a large tenants farmer population Japan is faced with a land problem. In recent months, in several parts of the country but especially in Osaka and Kyushu prefectures the tenants have been returning the land to the owners because of the latter's refusal to grant them a larger percentage of the crops, the farms being worked on the share system. These tenants claim that under the present system, with long hours and arduous work, the earnings of a family averages $11 (eleven dollars) monthly.

One-Man Party Decides to Join Republican Ranks

The latest recruit to the ranks of the G. O. P. is John W. Fowler, colored, state chairman of the Progressive Party in California. The party has been defunct some time.

Fowler, who is a resident of Oakland, gained fame two years ago when he announced himself a candidate on the Progressive ticket for assemblyman from the 39th district, and in accordance with the best political procedure, held a state convention all by himself, at which he acted as chairman, delegates, secretary, nominee, introduced himself, nominated himself and accepted his own nomination.

Fowler said today: "Yes, I have joined the Republican party for a long time being, but the chances are that I may yet register as a Progressive. For, you see, we are thinking of reestablishing the Progressive Party. Of course, I am the only man who has a right to revive the party, for I am still its state chairman. And in that case it will not be a difficult matter for me and other Progressives to change our registration."

BELGIANS WILL VISIT JAPANESE

TOKYO, May 26.—(By Mail.)—A small Belgian business men's delegation, consisting of probably six persons, is planning to visit this country some time in the autumn. The mission will represent about six of the different industries of Belgium, namely, steel and iron, paper, glass and textiles, and will also visit China, the Philippine islands, and Siam.

Ambassador de Bassompierre advised his home government that he thought a party of Belgian business men should come to Japan and see trade conditions for themselves. This the Belgian diplomat said was due to the fact that since the war the trade of his country with Japan had grown considerably. As a matter of fact, only Germany and Belgium showed increases in their exports for 1921 to this country over those of the preceding years. At the present time there are very few Belgian business houses in this country, yet the trade continues to grow and the object of the mission is visiting this country is to get first hand information as to actual conditions so that future business may be handled more intelligently.

China Has Schools For Railway Men

PEKING, May 23.—Despite economic disturbances due to civil war China is adopting western methods in the treatment of her railway employees, according to a report just made by the Ministry of Communications. The report says: "Not only are railway training schools provided, but there are also schools for the education of the employees' children."

"Since 1918, when the experiment was first started, no less than twenty-five middle and primary schools as well as twelve railway training schools have been established, with a total enrollment of 16,000 students."

Here is a recipe for putting down eggs: The solution is known as silicate of soda, or water glass. Select clean fresh eggs, pack in water tight vessel, small ends down. Boil and cool water, mix with water glass in proportion of one part of water glass to nine or ten of water. Cover eggs with mixture and cover vessel tightly to prevent evaporation. Will keep one year.

No, you cannot add eggs daily to the same solution. You are supposed to put them all down at the same time. You can take them out at any time, however.

his followers. Commandant Barry of the rebel forces and thirty-three others were arrested. Barry was seized while attempting to escape disguised as a nurse.

The rear of the Four Courts—the last stand in the building—was then assaulted. The storming was so fierce that by 9 o'clock this morning O'Connor and his band had to abandon their position.

Free State troops immediately occupied the building.

Free State troops, according to advices received here, were attacking various insurgent strongholds throughout Donegal.

DUBLIN, June 30.—Free State troops in armored cars attacked and occupied a hotel in Henrietta street this morning. The irregulars who had barricaded the buildings were driven out.

By GEORGE MACDONAGH, United Press Staff Correspondent. (Copyright 1922 by United Press.)

DUBLIN, June 30.—I was watching the Four Courts, where Free State troops were driving back the rebels this morning. Suddenly I saw wisps of smoke spiral up from the center of the group of buildings.

A terrific blaze shot up high into the air and the ground shook beneath a thunderous explosion. The immense buildings were blown up. Smoke, debris, tattered shreds of law books and documents filled the sky and drifted down over the city. Records of a century of law in Ireland were destroyed and scattered in pieces. The sky was blackened and the city shook.

I believe the fire exploded a mine, which, in turn, set off the insurgents' ammunition dump.

Adjacent buildings rocked and some tottered and fell in the crash of the explosion. As the rain of debris cleared, the smoke from numerous fires springing up near the Four Courts could be seen.

Soon I heard the clang of fire bells on engines rushing from all parts of the city towards the scene of destruction.

Ambulances, bringing doctors and nurses came dashing through the streets.

There was a lull in firing throughout the city. The battle died down.

Undoubtedly the casualties in the explosion were very heavy.

Hospitals in the vicinity of the Four Courts were quickly crowded. I saw many bloody and terrible sights. Persons who had remained in the neighborhood during the fighting fled in terror after the crash. They ran screaming through the streets.

Celebration of July 4 Subject Of Proclamation

A proclamation to the people of Oakland, calling attention to the Oakland Fourth of July celebration and the patriotic significance of the day, was issued today by Mayor Davis. The proclamation follows:

Tuesday, July 4th, is the 147th anniversary of the birth of the United States, and as such is a day for the most enthusiastic celebration of any of our national holidays.

In the 146 years which have passed since the signing of the Declaration of Independence, our country has grown from a small group of colonies on the Atlantic seaboard to the foremost nation of the world. The American people have just cause for pride in our national growth, and for celebrating the anniversary of the day from which dates the beginning of our wonderful progress and development as an independent nation.

Oakland as a city has a splendid patriotic record, and the celebration of July 4th is an event of interest and importance to every one of our people.

Our local celebration this year will be continued under the auspices of Oakland's veterans of our country's wars. A committee from the veteran organizations has been planning the celebration for several weeks, and has arranged a program which will be continuous throughout the entire day.

Commencing with a parade through the business section in the morning, the program includes water sports on Lake Merritt in the afternoon and evening, band concerts and patriotic exercises at Lakeside Park during the afternoon, an elaborate display of fireworks at the Lake in the evening, followed by a free ball in the Auditorium. The program as arranged thus provides an opportunity for participation in some manner by all our people, and I know that every citizen of Oakland will welcome the opportunity of joining in the celebration and observing our National Birthday at some time during the day.

BUSINESS OPPORTUNITY FOR YOUNG MAN

"Dick, I hear the boss himself is having you give him a detailed plan of that new idea of yours for saving money in the shipping department. Congratulations, old man. It will mean a big promotion for you."

"Well, I hope so, but I am not too confident. I don't know that I'm quite sure I can convince him. I have my talk with him day after tomorrow."

"Now, listen to me, Dick. You must have confidence in yourself. That's what the boss likes. If you have confidence in your plan and in yourself, the boss will take you seriously. He is keen, and he'll know it in a minute if you aren't all enthusiasm."

"Oh, I am sure of the idea all right. What I am worrying about is my ability to get the idea over to the old man. I haven't any decent clothes, for one thing, and right there I lose a little confidence in myself."

"Great Scott, man! Are you crazy? Get some clothes. This is a big thing for you. You want to be there hitting on all cylinders or you are lost. Get some duds, doll up and be full of pep. Go to Cherry's, 528 13th street, and get a suit on credit. They have mighty good quality goods, too, and you can make arrangements to pay down what is convenient for you and the rest by monthly payments."

Supervisors Have Decided to Change System From Lump Sum Plan.

Assured by the directors of the Associated Charities of Oakland that the organization cannot carry on its charitable work next year unless it received an additional $32,000 from Alameda county to care for increased overhead expenses, the board of supervisors has announced its intention of paying the Associated Charities for work done for the county on a basis of the number of cases handled and not by lump sum appropriation as in the past. Maintenance of county charity work in future will be entirely provided for in the county tax rates, it was decided, and the various cities of the county will not be expected to contribute by appropriations to the expense that should logically be borne by the whole county, it was announced.

This action of the board of supervisors is expected to end a mild controversy that has existed for nearly a year between the board and the Associated Charities over the increased cost of the work being done by the Associated Charities and the proportion of that increased cost that should be borne by Alameda county.

ASKED MORE MONEY. The supervisors were advised by the directors of the Associated Charities that the organization cannot continue its work without an increased appropriation from the county to cover its overhead expenses. Following a discussion of the matter, in which the supervisors took the position that the county is paying more than its share of the overhead costs of the Associated Charities, Supervisors Redmond and C. C. Stevens declared they would offer to the board a resolution calling for the total maintenance of indigents by the county, the cost to be met by taxation, and if the resolution carried, would advise all cities to refrain from giving any sums toward charity and advise the public to expect to pay for all charitable work through its county taxation. No positive action was made, however, that the work of dispensing charity would be taken from the hands of the Associated Charities.

WILL COST MORE. The decision of the county to pay a certain fixed sum to the Associated Charities for its work of supervising the dispensation of county funds for charitable purposes will greatly increase the cost of this work to the county, it was declared by the directors of the Associated Charities, but this possible increase was agreed to by the supervisors. "In that case," said Chairman Hamilton, "we shall be glad to pay more, for we will know the Associated Charities are entitled to it."

Two Suits Against Terminal Ry. Begun

Two damage suits, one for $50,000 and another for $25,000 have been filed against the San Francisco-Oakland Terminal Railway. The $50,000 suit was filed by Artie Lea Marshall, who alleges that on January 14, 1922, she was struck and received injuries which resulted in her being badly disfigured. The other suit was filed by Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Peterson, whose daughter, Genevieve L. Peterson, was struck at the same time as Mrs. Marshall, and was killed. Her sisters are also mentioned as plaintiffs in the suit.

RUSS PHYSICIAN ASKS AMERICAN AID FOR CRIPPLES

Dr. Tregubow Will Visit U. S. in Search of Models for Artificial Limbs.

KHARKOV, Russia, June 30.—There is an eminent surgeon in this city—one of the world's famed orthopedists—who is eagerly awaiting permission and financial assistance from the Soviet government to enable him to make a rapid trip to the United States and return. He desires to obtain models of the latest American inventions of artificial arms and legs and bring them back to Russia for use among the innumerable war cripples of this country. He is Dr. Tregubow. "In no place in the world is there such great demand for arms and legs as in South Russia," said Dr. Tregubow today. "The need here is colossal," he declared, with emphasis. "The war, both external and internal, have left a vast army of men in Russia who cannot make their way because their arms and legs have been shot off, leaving them helpless. They sit at home or in hospitals, many starving and dying because they do not have the artificial replacement for their natural members. We have a factory to manufacture these here in Kharkov, if only we can get the models and some of the necessary materials in America."

DISEASE IS RAMPANT.
Dr. Tregubow stated that the war was not the only cause of cripples in Russia. Infectious diseases, especially typhus, affect the bones of the body and frequently cause them to become diseased and decayed. Because of the exceptionally high typhus epidemic during the last few years the number of persons with destructive diseases of the bones has increased, thus augmenting Russia's need for artificial arms and legs.

The United States is familiar to Dr. Tregubow. He has been there several times and is well acquainted with many of America's best known specialists in orthopedic surgery. Among the latter whom he expects to see on his prospective visit to America are Dr. Gihney of New York City and Dr. Lovett of Boston. Dr. Tregubow is a graduate of a Russian university and took post-graduate courses under Dr. Hoffe of Berlin and Dr. Lorenz of Vienna. He is now professor of orthopedics in the medical institute of the University at Kharkov.

AIDS RELIEF WORK.
He has given much assistance to George P. Harrington of Boston, district supervisor of the American relief administration at Kharkov, and Dr. Frank Lyman of Duluth, supervisor of medical relief for the district. The A. R. A. has been delivering food packages in Kharkov since January 17, and the daily total now numbers 200. Orders have been issued from the American relief administration headquarters to organize kitchens to feed 30,000 children in this district. One of the first that will be organized will be a kitchen to feed the refugee children who lie around on the station platforms, or crawl among the freight trains looking for any bite of food. Many of them are nearly dead when they reach here after their flight from the famine villages of the Ukraine and Crimea, and they die within a few hours or days. It is said that five dead bodies are carried out of this station every day. Most any hour that one walks through the station or railway yards one sees a stretcher being carried by sanitary corps attendants.

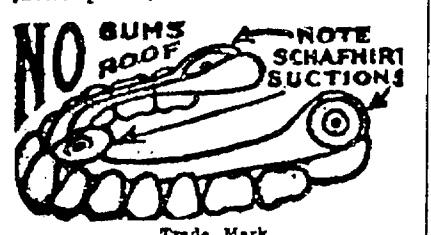

Writers of vitriolic anonymous letters, blackmailing and threatening themselves and had check artists are due to exposure and conviction as the result of a new identification system described in Sunday's TRIBUNE.

Russians to Revive Famous Trade Fair

NIZHNI NOVGOROD, Russia, June 30.—Buildings have been put in order for the revival this year of the Nizhni Novgorod fair, the centuries old market at which the merchants of the East and the West met to exchange the famed silks and spices of the Indies and the furs of Muscovy for the woolsens of England, the wines of Spain and the best craftsmanship of other lands. The Council of Labor and Defense at Moscow has spent $4,000,000,000 of Soviet rubles to this end. The Egyptians sometimes used stones 30 feet in length in their masonry.

Australian Schools To Teach Loyalty

SYDNEY, N. S. W., June 30.—The state government is taking steps to insure that children attending state schools will be taught "a proper realization of loyalty," in order to counteract the influences which have been found at work in alleged attempts to make children disloyal, especially in Communist Sunday schools. The authorities have announced. Once a week all children attending public schools will recite the words: "I honor my God. I serve my King. I salute my flag." Maximus, a Roman emperor, could eat 40 pounds of meat a day, it is said.

MONSTER PARADE TO FEATURE C. E. CONCLAVE HERE

10,000 Persons to March on Wednesday; 6000 Delegates Here for Week.

A great street parade consisting of scores of decorated floats representing each of the districts in the state, and all of the 6000 visiting delegates, will be one of the features of the thirty-fifth annual convention of the California Christian Endeavor Union, which will open in this city next Wednesday.

The procession will be one of the concluding features of the convocation, and will be held at 4:15 p. m. July 8. The convention will close the following Sunday. Harold Cross of Los Angeles will be grand marshal and the line of march will be through the principal streets in Oakland's downtown section. It was estimated today that almost 10,000 persons, including visiting delegates and persons connected with the organization, would march in the street parade.

TROPHY OFFERED.
A silver trophy will be presented to the representation making the best showing and keen contests are looked for between the various districts. Southern California, it was announced today, would come to Oakland determined to capture the trophy, while other unions are as equally set upon bringing it back to their respective districts.

The city will be lavishly decorated to greet the 6000 delegates. Andrew Hogan, chairman of the decorations committee, announced today that plans had been completed to have the town hung with Christian Endeavor flags, and a movement is under way to secure the permission of city officials to have the organization's standard fly beneath the Stars and Stripes from the peak of the city hall during convention week. Next week construction of the welcome arch which will span the main thoroughfare leading to the civic auditorium, where convention sessions will occur, will be begun, and the interior of the convention hall will be draped in gold, purple, red, white and blue.

RECORD ATTENDANCE.
"We expect the 1922 meeting to be the largest and most successful since the formation of the State union," Leese Martin of Berkeley, president of the California Christian Endeavor Union said today. "There will be the greatest number of State delegates ever banded together here, and every moment of the entire five-days' program will be taken up with some form of business or entertainment."

Oakland has entertained the State convention three times in 1888, 1899 and 1914.

The convention will open Wednesday afternoon and will be devoted mainly to the annual meeting of State executives. The meeting will be preceded by a prayer service for the convention under the leadership of Ben J. Small, past State president. A fellowship period under the supervision of Past State President Arthur W. Johnson will occupy the remainder of the session. The first session of the convention in which the delegates will participate will be Wednesday night, opening with a song service by Byron Burditt.

WELCOME BY MAYOR.
The conclusion of the session will be formally opened by State President Martin. Mayor John L. Davis will deliver the address of welcome to the delegates and former State President J. H. Godber of Pasadena will respond. A letter from Father Frances E. Clark, president of the United and World Societies of Christian Endeavor, will be read by Paul C. Brown, Pacific coast secretary of the United Society. Something of an innovation will be the inter-mediate chorus and orchestra under the direction of Roy C. Brown of the convention music committee.

Rev. Rowland B. Dodge, state pastor counselor, will deliver the convention opening prayer and the evening address will be given by Dr. W. E. Edwards of Glendale, on the subject of "Fellowship With Christ." A solo by Leon Mills will terminate this session.

VARIED PROGRAM.
Throughout the five days of the meeting, the delegates will be entertained in various manners. They will be taken on automobile tours of the Eastbay, and will be the guests at numerous luncheons and banquets.

Additional registrations from delegates were received today at the Oakland Christian Endeavor headquarters. Word was received this afternoon from the other headquarters at Los Angeles that reservations to the convention were also being received there in large numbers. These will be forwarded to the Oakland headquarters, where they will be checked up.

There will be no trouble in housing the delegates, according to the committee in charge of this department. Reservations are being made at the leading hotels in the city, and a directory of rooms has been compiled which will be placed at the disposal of the visitors who might experience trouble in securing hotel accommodations.

For the accommodation of delegates who make the trip to this city, a five acre tract for camping purposes has been secured immediately adjacent to the auditorium. Fresh water has been piped to these grounds and every facility for camping has been arranged by a committee.

$3000 FOUND ON AGED WOMAN WHO BEGGED FOR AID

Apparently penniless and alone in this strange city, Mrs. Elizabeth McGru, about 60 years old, was found at the Sixteenth street Southern Pacific depot in Oakland and taken to San Francisco by officers of the Travelers Aid Society.

Today, while going through her effects at the San Francisco Emergency hospital, it was found that she had more than $3000 in cash on her person.

The aged woman apparently came from Mitchell, Ind. She was suffering from hunger and appealed for aid as she sat in the Oakland waiting room. She was given a meal and taken to the Travelers Aid headquarters in the Ferry building.

Her talk was incoherent and it was not until a minute examination was made of her effects that the money was found secreted in a bundle of rags in a lunch pail which she carried.

There were several small bags of nickels in the coin. The authorities are communicating with the cashier of the National Bank of Mitchell in the hope of locating her relatives.

Life of Lincoln Will Be Filmed

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 30.—Filming of the life of Abraham Lincoln, to start in this city in six weeks, was assured today, it was announced, following a meeting of all civic organizations and clubs of Springfield, at which they pledged full support, and arranged that his-tonic Lincoln relief, preserved here, may be utilized for the picture.

Three men who knew Lincoln while he lived spoke at the meeting and promised their co-operation in helping men who will direct the filming.

The producing company is from Hollywood, California.

of Noted Oratorio.

A record house will hear "The Messiah" in the arena of the Auditorium tonight, according to the Christian Endeavor committee in charge, which reports a record sale of seats for the great oratorio.

Hundreds of delegates to the forthcoming Christian Endeavor convention have reached Oakland, in advance of the convocation, and Miss Z. M. Potter at the Sherman Clay box office reports unprecedented enthusiasm over this production.

The great musical event is intended as an introductory feature to the big convention, which opens next Wednesday with 6000 delegates and visitors.

There will be 500 voices in the chorus, the singers having been carefully selected from the choir and musical organizations of all the bay cities. They will be directed by Wallace A. Sabin, the well known organist and leader, and there will be a 50-piece orchestra of which Alexander Saslavsky is to be concert master.

Grace Davis Northrup, formerly a local choir soprano and recently of New York, has come to Oakland to appear in "The Messiah," and will be heard in solos. Other soloists will be Ruth Waterman Anderson, Hugh J. Williams and Henry Perry, all of whom will be accompanied by Bessie Beatty Roland.

The chorus has been given intensive rehearsals, and according to Sabin has been brought to the pitch of perfection. It is announced that this production of "The Messiah" will be the largest and most important in local musical annals.

In a formal statement, Borah charged that the efforts of a group of senators, insistent that a closure rule be adopted to shut off senate debate on certain kinds of bills, was intended to gag the senate on the subsidy bill.

INDIANS TAUGHT LOGGING TRADE BY GOVERNMENT

Complete Industrial Plant Maintained on Menominee Reserve.

MENOMINEE INDIAN RESERVATION, KESHENA, Wis., June 30.—By the Associated Press.—The Federal Government operates, on this Indian reservation, a complete northwoods logging industry, including a sawmill valued at a quarter of a million dollars.

It is a successful, money-making industry, which since about 1914 has put more than ten million dollars net profit in the tribal fund of the Menominees. Its purpose is not primarily to make money, but to afford an opportunity for Menominees to learn business.

This government lumber camp works in a tract of 227,000 acres of timberland, with about 50 miles of railroad to haul out the logs and the rail head at Neopit, in the heart of the reservation. The work is conducted by white men, under the general supervision of Edgar A. Allen, superintendent of the reservation, and the logging operations under G. A. Gutches, manager of the operation, a University of Michigan man. White lumberjacks and contractors have done the largest portion of the work, for the Indians have not taken to lumbering readily.

URGE INDIANS TO WORK.
The Menominees are encouraged not only to work in the camps and the mill for wages, but to undertake operations as jobbers on their own responsibility. Comparatively few tracts are assigned for this purpose, where an Indian undertakes to clear the logs and deliver them to the railroad, hiring his own help, and furnishing teams and equipment. This requires capital, skill and business ability. It is not necessary for the Indian jobbers to have capital to start. If they can convince the superintendent of their responsibility, the government advances the means for them to try to make good and to become independent. There are several Indian jobbers now at work. One of these camps is conducted by a Carlisle graduate, who was a notable ball player in his college days, and who now plays summer baseball with the Neopit Indian team.

Among the staff of white men in the lumber camps is a former New York state theatrical man, who retired after making some money, became interested in doing supply work for the camps, studied farming and of books and this summer has thirteen or fourteen acres under cultivation about the camps to supply fresh vegetables.

Superintendent Gutches conducts the major part of the lumbering operations and watching the war-ker for disposing of the lumber. His part of the training work is to show the Indians the right way, for he says there is one right way of getting out logs and about fifty ways of doing it wrong. He showed some of the camps a few fundamentals that raised the amount of their production something like four-fold, without increasing the labor or the expense. These other log-gers were not taking everything as they went, nor clearing the brush and leaving the land ready either for reforestation or farming. The brush and the occasional logs that they left multiplied their work incredibly.

Washington maintains an active supervision over the entire establishment. One of the woods camps a pine log was used to make a watering trough. Charges were filed that good pine logs were being wasted for watering troughs, and an investigation was held.

KU KLUX KLAN LEADER IN KERN FACES PRISON

Former Exalted Cyclops Is Convicted of Assault on Taft Doctor.

BAKERSFIELD, June 30.—John E. Vitelle, former exalted cyclops of the Taft Ku Klux Klan, was found guilty on an indictment charging him with assaulting Dr. Dwight R. Mason of Taft by beating him with ropes, by a jury in the Kern county superior court last night, after more than four hours' deliberation.

He was acquitted of a charge of assault with intent to commit murder and the jury disagreed on the charge of assault with intent to do great bodily injury.

The third indictment, on which Vitelle was convicted, is punishable by from 1 to 10 years in prison. Vitelle will appear in court for sentence Monday.

At 9 o'clock last night the jury returned to the court room, and asked to have the indictments re-read. Almost an hour later the verdict was returned.

Vitelle was accused of attacking Dr. Mason at the Taft ball park the night of October 27, 1931. According to Dr. Mason's testimony, given during the trial, more than 30 hooded and masked men were at the place at the time of the alleged attack. He also testified that his wife and three other women saw him attacked.

Dr. Mason, after the purported attack, left the county, going to Los Angeles. Vitelle was indicted on the three counts by the Kern county grand jury which conducted an investigation into the Ku Klux Klan and returned a report which condemned the organization.

The first woman mill west of the Rocky mountains was at Salem, Ore.

Moon Yowlers Stir Move to De-catify City

What is the city of Oakland going to do concerning cats?

This question, according to many city officials, beginning to assume a grave if not catastrophic aspect. Poundmen, street repair men, yard-keepers and others who come into contact with stray felines daily are beginning to get overwrought about cats, and are wondering when the city of Oakland will come forth in its night and de-catify the town.

The trouble is that Oakland has no ordinance covering cats. Dogs are banned. Poor Fido dares not run around the corner without a license lest the poundman end his career; but the city never did anything about cats. No poundman has the right to pick up a cat. He can remove dead ones but live ones can save his face.

"It's getting to be terrible," says Dr. C. C. Wing, grand marshal of the city pound. "There are stray cats all over the city. Something will have to be done about it very soon or we'll be the prize stray-cat city of the coast."

Officials of the East Oakland corporation yard are the only ones who are attempting to solve the cat problem. Frank Maguire, superintendent, at his himself with his trusty rifle every other night and sallies forth to chip out the district with fair success. But a lough Maguire holds this portion of the East Oakland sector, the rest of the city is admittedly invaded by haughty felines who laugh at the poundman and yowl at the moon.

A cat-conference of city officials may be called in the near future.

WEDDING IS HOME CEREMONY.
A beautiful ceremony of Wednesday evening was the marriage of Miss Grace Edna Coughlin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Coughlin of this city, and Charles Clarence Newsom, son of Mr. and Mrs. K. E. Newsom of Fifth avenue. The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride at Thirtieth street, Rev. Gannon of St. Andrew's church officiating before a company of thirty guests. Later a buffet supper was served.

The nuptial vows were exchanged within a huge floral bell of pink and white sweet peas, a background of stately palms and and ivory baskets of summer bloom completing the effect.

The bride was crowned in white marquisette, the skirt draped with over panels trimmed in Valenciennes lace and the bodice of fine tucks in the marquisette pattern. A broad girdle of white satin caught with sprays of orange blossoms completed the frock, with which was worn a wedding veil of tulle.

ALAMEDA GIRL WEDS IN RIVERSIDE

Mr. and Mrs. Samuels are en route to Chicago, where they will make their home. The romance followed a visit to the western coast by Samuels a few months ago. The bridegroom is a graduate of an eastern university and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Reed Samuels of Chicago.

BISHOP SEES DANGER AHEAD FOR RELIGIONS

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.
LEAH WELLS TO TRIBUNE.
CHICAGO, June 30.—Bishop Fred B. Fisher of Lucknow, India, startled the meeting of the Council of Board of Benevolence of the Methodist Episcopal Church yesterday when he declared that the Christian churches of the West must immediately put themselves in line with the progressive movements that are sweeping the world, or that new religious leadership would rise out of Buddhism or Islamism or other sources.

"I have returned to this country after two years in the midst of these great tides that are to be felt in the East," he said, "and when I got back into the religious atmosphere of America I felt as though I was being taken from the crest of the billows of the ocean and dropped into a leucap."

"There are spiritual forces at work in other parts of the world that may prove their ability to set the religious leadership of the world if we in the West remain indifferent, selfish and occupied with our own little affairs."

AMUNDSEN SAILS ON FIRST LAP OF ARCTIC JOURNEY

Explorer Leaves Nome for
Pt. Barrow, Where Flight to Pole Will Begin.

NOME, Alaska, June 30 (By the Associated Press).—On the first lap of his Arctic journey in which he will attempt to fly across the North Pole, Captain Roald Amundsen sailed from Nome yesterday afternoon in the exploring ship Maud.

From Point Barrow, the northern extremity of Alaska, he plans to take off in about three weeks in an airplane flight which he expects will land him less than 24 hours later on the island of Spitzbergen or on Cape Columbia, Grant's Land, Northern Greenland.

With the Norwegian explorer sailed Elmer G. Fullerton, Canadian member of the British royal air force, who will pilot the 185-horsepower Junker monoplane in its flight.

From now on the only communication Amundsen will have will be by means of the powerful radio apparatus with which the Maud was fitted before she sailed from Seattle early this month.

The crew of the United States revenue cutter Bear escorted Amundsen from the dock to his ship. On the forward deck of the Maud Judge R. J. Lomen spoke for the citizens of Nome, bidding the voyager God speed and presenting him with a silk American flag in farewell.

From the Maud the Nome citizens who went out to see Amundsen off were taken aboard the Bear and amid the shrieking of many whistles and cheering from many craft the explorer waved a farewell on the after deck of his little schooner as it pulled out.

The Bear conveyed the Maud from the Nome roadstead. Captain Thomas A. Ross of the Nome coast guard station was at the wheel of the Maud when she departed and piloted her for ten miles.

Wing's Body Sent To Home in S. F.

RENO, Nev., June 30.—Without assigning any motive for the deed the coroner's jury at the inquest into the killing of Leon Wing, racing official and sportsman, returned a verdict placing the blame for Wing's death on Arthur A. Zeigler, a former jockey. Zeigler committed suicide, the jury reported.

Wing was killed by Zeigler Wednesday morning at the Reno race track after Zeigler had failed in an attempt to secure permission to ride here. He was suspended at Vancou, B. C. last year. Following the shooting of Wing, Zeigler shot himself, inflicting wounds which resulted in his death shortly after.

The remains of Wing were accompanied to a train for San Francisco by 350 horsemen, former soldiers and friends. A uniformed escort composed of American Legion members and members of the Silver State Jockey club led the cortege from the mortuary to the train.

PARENTS OF SIX DROWN.
MARSHFIELD, Ore., June 30.—Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Scott, parents of six children, were drowned in Coal Bank inlet last night. They were in a boat which capsized.

Following the shooting of Wing, Zeigler shot himself, inflicting wounds which resulted in his death shortly after.

The guests Tuesday were Mr. and Mrs. Guy Holmes, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Chandler, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Rowland, Mr. and Mrs. Whit

S.P. DOESN'T SEEK TO OVERRIDE U.S. COURT DECISION

President Sproule Says Company Merely Asks to Retain Public Service.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, June 30.—"Flagrant effort has been made in an anonymous way to mislead the public into the belief that the Southern Pacific Railroad Company is attempting to override the decision of the Supreme Court of the United States," said William Sproule, president of the Southern Pacific Railroad, last night, before departing for San Francisco. "It should be remembered that the Southern Pacific has not sought and is not seeking to override the separation of a line from some other ownership for its own advantage. We merely ask that the Southern Pacific lines be allowed to continue as a single operating unit in order that the public in its own interest may have the advantage of this company's unbroken public service as common carrier, rather than a badly disrupted service, as a substitute. SEEK ORDERLY PROCESSES. We ask this only in the orderly process of the law. We believe that the great public interest is best served by recognizing the advantages of the larger and extended and convenient service given to that public by the present

Gotham Given Once Over By Cornelius Cole

NEW YORK, June 30.—Former United States Senator Cornelius Cole, who will be 100 years old September 17, has looked New York over after an absence of forty years, and approved the changes and development made during his absence. The eighty-four-year-old old gentleman who first took his place in Congress in 1851, has inspected Riverside drive, the subway, skyscrapers, flippers and motion picture palaces and found them all good to look upon, he said. "On the whole," he chuckled, "I find the East keeping up pretty well with California." Cole, who looks forty years younger than his age, considers, next to the abolition of slavery for which he voted, his work for a trans-continental railroad as the most important of his career. "When I first went to Congress," he said, "we had to travel on land by way of the isthmus of Panama. The first move for a trans-continental railroad was made in 1851, when a group of prominent Californians, including Huntington, Hopkins, Crocker and some others, of which I was one, organized a company for the purpose of building a railroad across the Sierra Nevada mountains and across the country to the East. I was a member of Congress when the Pacific railroad was organized and was the California member of the committee from the House. The former senator, who has seen world events written large across the pages of history, does not think much of feminine politics and on prohibition, too, he has decided views. "We used to make pretty good wine in California, and I can't see that it did me any harm," he said. "I favor restriction of the sale of strong drinks, but I cannot see any harm in mild drinking. Our California wines were harmless, I'm sure." Cole has refused present invitations to make a flying inspection of New York. He has promised to accompany his granddaughter, Miss Cornelia Beckman, McLaughlin, who holds a pilot's license, that he will fly with her upon his 100th birthday anniversary.

PIT RIVER PARTY TO LEAVE TONIGHT

A special train carrying more than 100 officials of the Pacific Gas and Electric company and a group of newspaper men and others will leave the Oakland mole this evening at 10:40 bound for the great Pit river power plants now being constructed in the $100,000,000 project for supplying Northern California with electric energy. Three private cars and two diners will make up the train when it leaves Oakland but this will be augmented in Sacramento by three more cars containing the San Joaquin and Sacramento valley contingents. The party will be transferred from the Southern Pacific at Sisson to the McCloud river railroad and conveyed to Bartle, at which stop it will be met by a Pacific Gas and Electric train and taken up to Pit river, arriving there about 5 p. m. tomorrow. The return trip will be made Monday.

"The Bird of Paradise," which, after ten years, has finally been withdrawn from the road by Richard Walton Tully, is one of the subjects discussed by the Knave in the Sunday TRIBUNE. railroad system of the Southern Pacific Company under existing regulatory control. The commissions, state and federal, are endowed with all the powers necessary to make their regulatory control potent and complete. "There can be nothing improper in our asking the support of the public toward bringing this difficulty to an amicable conclusion that will maintain the operations of this transportation system as a unit justified by the general experience of the people served. If necessary to accomplish this purpose it may even be that new law should be enacted to meet the situation. OWNER OF C. P. STOCK. The owner of the entire capital stock of the Central Pacific stock for 22 years, has held the lease of the Central Pacific for 37 years and the Central Pacific and Southern Pacific have been under common control and management for 52 years. Twenty-three years ago the government arranged with the Southern Pacific for the sale of the Central Pacific to the government, and by this help from the Southern Pacific the government collected its debt. "The growth has been of one system and not of two. It has been responsive to the needs of Pacific Coast communities and producers. The Southern Pacific system has been built up under a common control and management through two corporate companies. Had it been built up under the same common control and management, there would be no question. Financial necessities made it necessary to work through two companies. It was as a two-wheel system and one trunk which diverged into two great branches interlacing and forming the complete tree. The unmerging of such a structure is no light and easy task."

DOCK WORKERS IN MARSEILLES FAVOR SOVIETS

MARSEILLES, June 30.—Soviet Russia has firm supporters in Marseilles. Everyone from the dockworkers to the wealthy manufacturers wants Bolshevik Russia's trade. The petition of the Marseilles Chamber of Commerce for the re-establishment of trade with Russia produced such an impression on former Premier Briand that he went far toward bettering Russian relations. Northern France rebelled, and Raymond Poincare succeeded him. France's attitude at the Genoa conference did not appeal to Marseilles, with its idle shipping and smokeless factories, and practice is being brought by Marseilles interests of all sorts to effect some settlement at the League conference which will facilitate France's trade relations with Black Sea ports. Marseilles is the greatest flour milling city in the Mediterranean. Before the war one-fifth of its flour mill products went to Russia. It also had a great Russian trade in soap and oil. The population of Marseilles is so largely industrial that the Socialists are always in the majority. While the Marseilles Socialists frequently fly red flags and display sympathy for Bolshevik Russia, they are really a "faint pink." In contrast to the Russian Communists. On the occasion of the recent municipal elections in which the Socialists won their usual overwhelming victory there were many parades in celebration of their successes. Red flags and banners demanding the release of French sailors who are still in prison for refusing to fight the Bolsheviks at Odessa, were displayed. The mutiny of the French navy at Odessa, when it was ordered to attack Soviet forces in 1918, has always been a favorite theme with French Socialists of the extreme type, who also opposed the Wrangel and Denikin movements. "The Omitted Name" is the title of a cleverly written fiction story which appears in The TRIBUNE's Sunday Magazine Section. The author is Frank B. Elson.

SOVIETS MEET IN FAMED KREMLIN

MOSCOW, June 30.—Three hundred members of the All Russian Central Executive Committee, the parliament of Russia, mostly peasants and workmen, recently had their first glimpse of the magnificent quarters in which the Czars lived when in Moscow. The committee met in the Great Palace at the Kremlin, which has not been in any way changed during the revolution, except for the placing within its great reception and ball rooms of red covered tables and ordinary benches, which contrast strikingly with the gilded columns, marble walls, Jasper fireplaces, silk hangings, and gilded and crystal chandeliers.

The throne room was used as a meeting hall. The hall, St. George, in white and gold, with its parquet floor of rare wood, which was once a ball room where the royalty and nobility of Russia danced when in Moscow, was a lounging room tramped over by booted peasants who lined up like soldiers when the call for dinner to be served in an adjoining room was sounded.

The committeemen were served with cabbage soup and black bread, a meat dish and tea at tables covered with royal linen but equipped with cheap china and tin spoons. While most of the members were roughly dressed in the soft shirts or blue coats predominated, higher officials of the Soviet government who appeared to present legislation wore stiff white collars, and some of them could even be described as "smartly" attired.

LAST HONOR PAID

BERKELEY, June 30.—The funeral of William H. Firebaugh, Civil War veteran, was held from the family residence, 106 Plaza drive, late yesterday. The services were conducted by Rev. Frank Silsey, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, of which Firebaugh was a member. Interment was in Mountain View cemetery. A widow, Mrs. Ida B. Firebaugh, and three sons survive. They are: William H. Firebaugh Jr., and Frederick L. Firebaugh at this city, and Albert M. Firebaugh of Texas. A brother, Joseph Firebaugh, resides in San Francisco, and a sister, Mrs. Mary Metford, in Robinson, Ill.

Firebaugh answered Lincoln's first call for volunteers, joining Grant's regiment, Company J, Twenty-first Illinois, with whom he fought throughout the Civil War. At its close he went to San Antonio, Tex., becoming affiliated with a banking concern. Later he went into the hardware business. With his wife he came to Berkeley 12 years ago. Firebaugh was born in Marion, O. He was 83 years old. His illness dates from last October, when he suffered a paralytic stroke, a second occurring in January of this year.

SAN LEANDRO

School Board on Tour of Observation

SAN LEANDRO, June 30.—Members of the San Leandro school board spent a large portion of yesterday in a tour of observation throughout the city to determine a logical and appropriate site for the junior high school, which will be erected here this year. Yesterday's tour of observation was in compliance with the request of the Oakland Board of Education at a meeting held with the local board Monday night, that a recommendation be made in the course of the week.

According to Charles A. Jeffrey, chairman of the local board, definite selection was not made, owing to the many sites under consideration, together with the difficulty in arranging audiences with the owners or representatives of the different pieces of property. Owing to the fact that the July 4 holiday is near, the local board will probably hold over the investigation to the middle of next week, when a meeting of the property-holders will be held for advice, individual arrangements decided, and final recommendation.

U. S. AND JAZZ
TIRES AMERICAN
FROM ORIENT

BERKELEY, June 30.—The United States "bores" Walter Matheson, American, by birth, who has spent practically all of his life in the Orient, and is now enrolled at the university summer session.

"In 'the' 'O'rient' there are more novelties, more surprises," says Matheson. "This is the first time I have lived in the United States and I must confess that I am a trifle bored. I can see nothing thrilling in the so-called 'jazz' life of young people today."

American dancing Matheson describes as "gyrations of two people clinging together and prancing around a slippery floor."

Matheson declares that as soon as summer session work is over he will return to his beloved Orient, where for some years in China and Japan he has engaged in various forms or newspaper work.

Spray of Water Used in Washing
A fairly stiff spray of water from the garden hose serves well to wash the wheels, running gear and mud guards, but will drive sand and dirt into the varnish of the body, ruining its lustrous finish, so that no amount of polishing and rubbing will restore it.

MERCHANT TO RUN THEATER.

Tube Insertion Should Be Careful
To prevent a tube from getting pinched when placing it in the casing, the first rule is to graphite all rim parts, then put a little air in the tube before insertion. If a flap is used, be sure that it is exactly in place. After the tire is mounted, pound it heavily all the way round before inflating.

Spark Plug Shows Lubrication State
If the spark plugs are dry but sooty, the lubrication of the engine is correct, but the carburetor mixture is too rich. If the plug is oily, it indicates too much oil being drawn into the combustion chamber past piston rings. If the plug is both sooty and oil, there is a combination of too much gas and oil being consumed.

Virginia Fairfax, daughter of the first families of Virginia, rebels against the puritanical rule of her grandfather and is lured by filmland, runs away to become a picture actress. real, so stark in its nakedness that all these little, wordy nieces with which he clothed his unfelt sympathy, fell upon my grief with extra little hurts, I do not know. I know that Theodore Stratton had not it within himself to appreciate the thing that Kitty had done nor had he the capacity to comprehend my grief at her loss. And yet, I loved him—and that seemed to hurt me most. (Copyright, John F. Dille Co.) Tomorrow—A True Friend.

Drys Score Weeks' Stand on Prohibition
DENVER, June 30.—Delegates from twelve states from the regional conference of the anti-Saloon league have adopted unanimously a resolution protesting statements reported to have been made by Secretary of War John W. Weeks, blaming the prohibition law for unrest and declaring that Weeks would vote for the return of wine and beer if he were a member of Congress. The resolution was telegraphed to President Harding. Secretary Weeks' action is termed "apparent official disrespect for the federal constitution" and "encouragement to the spirit of lawlessness" in the protest. AFTER THE TRAGEDY.

Of course the newspapers were full of the tragedy of Kitty's death for days but, fortunately, no one except John Storm, Tony Melville and myself were aware that Julian Thorndyke had known Kitty before. Thorndyke, since his arrest for her murder, had refused to talk about anything except to give vent to insane ravings for morphine or cocaine.

He never mentioned Kitty's name. The whole Hollywood colony turned out to Kitty's funeral and the curiosity seekers were so numerous that a cordon of police had to be stretched about the little chapel from which she was buried. I learned all this from Tony and John because Theodore Stratton called me to work on that day.

While I knew, of course, that I had been summoned to work purposely to keep me from going to Kitty's funeral, I said nothing except to tell John the day before the funeral that I would not be able to come.

"Don't worry, Virgie," he said. "Kitty would understand—and I understand. In fact I, though a clergyman, deplore much of the barbarous ceremony with which we surround our dead. Tomorrow, besides her friends—we shall see those who were unkind to Kitty and those who have never known her but who come through morbid curiosity in the hope that there will be some sensational outcome even to the service of laying her away in God's acre."

"I am going to have her taken to Riverside and laid in that lovely old place behind the club, where the morning breeze comes fresh over the mountain and rustles the foliage about the graves, as it crosses the churchyard with a sigh and says, 'Not yet, in silence lie.' It will be a great comfort to have Kitty out there. I can see where she is going to lie from my chair beside the fireplace."

"You remember, dear, don't you, how she flitted about the living room only last Saturday and how she finally curled herself like a little homeless kitten up in that great arm chair and seemed for the first time in all her life to be warmed and comforted. Oh, why did I not keep her there?"

Although poignant grief welled up in my heart as he spoke I let him talk on and on because I knew it was a great relief to him. He drove me out to the studio the next morning and, as I left him, he bent down and kissed me. With that kiss John Storm cemented a relationship which has never been broken between us.

It seemed to strike me into his heart as something which the woman he loved had left to him—and I was glad.

It was very hard after living so strenuously in the world of stern reality for the last few days to come back into the world of make-believe. Out at the lot I felt that everyone was talking about me. Those who knew me greeted me with exaggerated kindness or elaborate indifference, as each seemed to feel it was necessary to either feel greatly sorry for me, or to ignore the tragedy altogether.

Maud Sanson was one of those who treated me in a real human way. She was neither offensively pitying nor did she make me feel that she was keeping back something she was bursting to say.

"I only met 32 Dalton once, Virgie," she said. "At that time she did not strike me as a girl who would play the heroine's part outside the movies, which just goes to show how often we are mistaken in our estimates of others."

I could not help thinking that possibly Maud Sanson was changing her opinion of me, too, because all day I was conscious of a distinct change in her attitude in her sympathy and took both my hands in his.

I knew he did not feel it for his hands were cold and flabby as they touched mine. It was good acting, done for those who were standing about.

"Poor baby-child, it is too bad that you should early be introduced to the sordid tragedies of life in this profession," he whispered. "From now on, I will protect you. I will keep you from contact with everyone who might bring you into other experiences such as this."

Whether it was because the thing I had been passing through was so

THOUSANDS ARE FLEECE THROUGH FRAUD SCHEMES

Advertisements of 'Sharper' Are Banned From United States Mails.

WASHINGTON, June 30.—The American public is being lured by many thousands of dollars annually by sharper who use the mails to lure their victims. The Post Office Department is continually unearthing these schemes of getting money from the unsuspecting public through false pretenses, but by the time the department issues a fraud order denying the use of the mails the bird has flown with many easy dollars of gullible persons.

"Of course these gullible people are to blame for losing their money on schemes that are so obviously a swindle, but apparently they never learn," said a veteran post office inspector. "Every day we turn up some new swindling scheme that is worked through mails, and is generally we find that the scheme is so barefaced that a schoolboy could see the trick in it. It is a human trait to want to get something for nothing, so that is why tricksters have such an easy time in working their schemes through the mails. When the strong arm of the Post Office Department reaches out and puts an end to one of these swindling schemes the trickster who worked it cheerfully proceeds to work out another plan and under another name he sets his net to again lure the unwary."

"It's a great game if you don't weaken," said another inspector, who added that there must be many simple-minded people to fall for these "easy money" schemes.

FRAUDULENT SCHEMES UNEARDED.

One of the boldest fraudulent schemes unearthed by post office inspectors had its origin in Toronto, Canada, and met with unbounded success for a time because the people who responded to the advertisement thought they had found a way to circumvent the law. The record showed that one Paul Morgan, claiming to be an American citizen, went to Toronto and prepared a circular letter, which he mailed to numerous persons in this country. The circular was entitled "Morgan's Pure Canadian Rye, the beverage of our grandfathers." The promoters of the scheme, "for in productory purposes," guaranteed to "safely deliver to your address anywhere in the United States, through our American agency, all charges prepaid, in plain, sealed, original package, nothing added or taken away, Morgan's pure rye, undistilled, 100 per cent pure, at $18 per case of twelve full quarts, $10 for a half case, or $5 for three full quarts for a trial." Safe delivery was guaranteed within ten days after receipt of order, "providing your order now."

PRODUCT IS EXPLAINED.

When Morgan was interviewed by the postal authorities he admitted that the product he sold consisted of "a case of twelve tinplate cardboard cartons, quart size, of the ordinary rye berry," and that directions would be printed on the cartons on how to roast this berry, "after grinding it was to be used as coffee." In other words, Morgan, for $18 per case, intended to supply twelve quarts of ordinary rye grain, which would be at the rate of $1.50 per bushel now.

The scheme was so manifestly fraudulent that Postmaster-General Work immediately issued a fraud order against Morgan, denying him the use of the mails. Over in Germany so a bright mind conceived the idea of selling gullible Americans a product from which they claimed to derive benefit. Morgan, port, rhine, sherry and tokay wines could be manufactured. A sample of the product was obtained through the American consul at Munich and was submitted to the bureau of chemistry of the Department of Agriculture for analysis. The bureau reported that it was impossible from the ingredients contained in the product to prepare standard wines of any kind. A fraud order was immediately issued against the parties engineering the scheme.

WOMEN ARE VICTIMS.

Many women were quick to take advantage of an offer of a firm in Huntingdon, Pa., to sell, "while it lasts," ten yards of silk for $1. "You can use this in making a fancy waist, fancy dress, or for silk cushions," the offer read. Those who sent in $1 for "sample ten yards" were charged to receive in return ten yards of silk thread valued at ten cents. A fraud order denying the concern the use of the mails put an end to the scheme.

Harry King, operating King's hatchery, in 1921 received more than $30,000 in payment for day-old chicks before the authorities stepped in and stopped the wholesale fraud. He advertised day-old chicks to be furnished at a specified date, at prices ranging from $3.10 for twenty-five chicks up to $15.8 for 1,000 chicks, depending upon the particular stock desired. The offer of fact, the postal authorities claim, King did not in any instance intend to furnish chicks, but appropriated the money to his own use without making good the offer. While the police were looking over King's meager hatchery he slipped out through a back door and is now a fugitive.

NEGROES ALSO RESPOND.

Thousands of negroes, many afflicted with blindness, tuberculosis, rheumatism and other complaints, responded to the advertisements of Dr. Walden H. Cohn, a negro, for "Keys to the Kingdom," a small pamphlet of thirty-four pages, for which he asked $10. The pamphlet is divided into so-called lessons and is a rambling, illogical dissertation of high-sounding words and phrases, in which an attempt is made to cover such subjects as "The Mind and Matter," "Conscious and Sub-Conscious Manifestation," etc.

"By his manner of advertising," says the official report, "Cohn lures sick persons into the belief that by some supernatural power inherent in 'Keys to the Kingdom' they can be cured of their illness, no matter of what nature or of how long standing; that, with the possession of 'Keys to the Kingdom,' their troubles can be removed and that success in every line will follow. It is shown that Cohn has succeeded in securing many thousands of dollars from poor and illiterate persons of the colored race. In fact, Cohn informed the officials that during the first six months of business he sold 500 booklets at $10 each.

The old scheme of offering a prize of a beautiful one-half carat blue-white Mexican diamond of great brilliancy and rainbow hue for $1.48 is remitted together with the correct answer to a puzzle of every day with new people behind it, and is just as quickly closed up by the postal authorities when the victims complain of having been defrauded.

JAPANESE READY TO WELCOME '81 CLASS CADETS

Royalty of Orient to Meet Party From Annapolis; Plan Entertainment.

By JAMES MCCLAIN, International News Service Staff Correspondent.

TOKYO.—The Annapolis class of '81 picked the worst time of the year to hold their reunion in Japan, and if the members of the class with their families expect to find Japan either a mass of cherry blossoms or of flaming maple leaves in July they are due for a distressing shock just as soon as the transport Henderson reaches Yokohama July 2. Japan, with the exception of Tokyo and the mountain resorts, in July sweaters under rays of an intense sun with little relief at night, while mosquitoes add to the discomfort.

The Japanese government, in planning the official program for the stay of the American naval men in Tokyo, is taking this fact into consideration and also the request of Senator Weller, written to Admiral Baron Uryu to the effect that the members of the class of '81 are not as young as they were a few years ago, and a strenuous program could hardly be agreeable with such maturity.

NOTED FOR ENTERTAINMENT. The Japanese are noted for their entertainment of foreign visitors, and it is certain that they will fill with joy every minute from the time the Henderson arrives at Yokohama until the party disbands.

prior to leaving Tokyo. The official entertainment will be continued to the week that the party opens in Tokyo, and on July 9 or 10 the members will break up into two or three small parties to tour Japan for another week as private citizens and at their own expense. They will visit Nikko, Miyazaki, the ancient capital of Kyoto, and the nearby historic town, Nara. The latter ordinarily would be the most interesting spot in Japan to any visitor, but Nikko and Miyazaki in July will afford more comfort, both being in the mountains. The Henderson is scheduled to leave Nagasaki for 19, after a trip through the beautiful Inland Sea.

The government has taken over practically the entire accommodations of the new Imperial Hotel that will be available in July, for the size of the party will fill nearly every chamber in the wing of the hotel so far completed.

PIGRIMAGE PLANNED. This assures the official party the best accommodations in Tokyo, but most of the other visitors to the Japanese capital will have to migrate elsewhere for that week, as the destruction of the old Imperial Hotel by fire before the new one was completed leaves the city badly handicapped.

One day of the stay of the Americans in Tokyo will be devoted to a pilgrimage to the monument erected in memory of Commodore Perry at Kurihama, a small fishing village between Yokohama and Yokosuka, where the American commander first landed in 1854 in his effort to force Japan to open her doors to the countries of the West. The trip probably will be made from Tokyo by motor through interesting villages and paddy fields, where the rice crop will be well along by that time.

The night of July 4 is the time set for the class reunion, and as only the members of the class will be permitted to be present, the Japanese entertainment committee is now sorely perplexed in its effort to provide suitable entertainment for the ladies of the party for that night. The rest of the program is in rather an indefinite form as yet, but each day is to be featured by official luncheons and dinners and visits to noted and interesting places in the capital city.

BRILLIANT FUNCTION.

These dinners probably will culminate with a brilliant function given by the Prince Regent for Edwin Denby, the American Secretary of the Navy, at the Imperial Palace, and at which the Emperor and the Imperial Princes and Princesses will in all probability be present. Premier Takahashi, Count Uchida, Minister of Foreign Affairs, Charles Beecher Warren, the American Ambassador, the American-Japan Society and the Japan-American Friendly Relations Committee, headed by Viscount Shibusawa, will give dinners while Admiral Baron Katō will be host on one day at luncheon.

Prince Tokugawa also will entertain. One of the most delightful entertainments of the visit is expected to be the one given by Admiral Baron Uryu, member of the famous class of '81, hero of the Russo-Japanese war, at whose invitation the class will hold its annual reunion in Japan.

LOCAL STATIONS TO LISTEN IN ON BUFFALO CONCERT

Success of Three Stations Encourage Local Amateurs to Try Again Tonight.

The radio fans of the bay region will endeavor to tune-in on WGR, the broadcasting station of the Federal Telephone & Telegraph company at Buffalo tonight, when that station will again endeavor to reach the Pacific coast with a concert.

The last test was made Wednesday evening. Three bay stations listened-in successfully. They were The Oakland TRIBUNE, the Peerless Laboratories of San Francisco, and the Maxwell Electric Company of Berkeley, operating the Hotel Claremont station in Berkeley.

Sitting in for The TRIBUNE, R. D. Lowell, 1420 Linden street, heard practically the entire concert broadcast by WGR Wednesday evening. The Hotel Claremont station reports having heard a major part of the concert. Lowell heard all of it and copied every number. The only portion he missed was the announcement, which was interrupted by local interference.

As a result of the success of these stations Wednesday evening, hundreds of amateurs with big receiving sets will listen-in tonight. The first test from WGR on Monday night was interrupted by broadcasting station in the north. This station has now been notified of the test tonight and the air is expected to be free from disturbances.

All who listen-in on tonight's concert are requested to keep a log and send the record to M. J. Corwin, San Francisco manager of the telephone company which operates WGR. His offices are at 603 Mission street.

Is the game of love a game at which the women do not play fairly? Genevieve Parkhurst, in The TRIBUNE'S Sunday Magazine Section, expresses the opinion that they do not.

LESSON NO. 94.

Battery Circuit.

(Copyright by Edward M. Davis)

(All rights reserved by United States Patent Office. Reproduction prohibited.)

In general a cell is a single unit used as a source of electrical energy, while a battery is two or more cells connected together in any of three ways. The three methods of connecting cells together are in "series," in "parallel," and in a combination of these two ways known as the "series multiple" or "series parallel" connection. The way in which the cells are reconnected in any particular circuit depends upon the voltage or current desired for operating the apparatus in the circuit.

The average voltage of the ordinary cell of carbin-zinc type is about one and one-half volts per cell, and it makes no difference how large this cell may be built the potential across the two terminals will not be more than this amount. Similarly the lead acid type of storage cell has a terminal voltage of about two volts, which is also independent of the size of the cell.

It is necessary therefore to resort to some other method than merely constructing a large cell in order to secure a voltage higher than may be secured with a small cell. The "series" method of connecting cells accomplishes this purpose. For the voltage of the individual cells added together gives the voltage of the group, for example, a 22½ volt "B" or plate battery for vacuum tube work has 16 small dry cells connected in series.

Also the filament which requires a source of six volts is supplied ordinarily by a storage battery made up of three cells connected in series, each cell having a voltage of about two volts.

While the series connection gives a voltage higher than the voltage of a single cell, the current output of each cell remains the same as in a circuit where the current is the same and furnished by a single cell. In order to get a greater current than we can secure with the series combination of the single cell we must employ the "parallel" connection. By using this arrangement the current output of two cells in parallel is equal to the sum of the output of each cell, but the voltage of the combination is the same as the voltage of the single cell. Therefore if 100 dry cells were connected in series the voltage would be 100 x 1.5 of 150 volts, while the current output would be that of a single cell. If the same cells were connected in parallel the voltage of the combination would be only 1.5 volts, but the battery would have a current output of 100 times that of a single cell.

Dry cells have a comparatively low internal resistance and the current output for closed circuit work, such as lighting vacuum tube

filaments, is very low, which requires that several cells be used in parallel, while the voltage requirements for this service are such that four cells must be connected in series in order to obtain the required voltage. Such a combination is called the series parallel, or series multiple connection of cells.

The series parallel connection of dry cells for vacuum tube work is the only practical way of using dry cells for filament lighting, and cells used in this way will be found to last longer than if used in individual groups of series connected cells.

ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS

Radio Editor TRIBUNE: Please show me through your radio page a hookup for the following: Variocoupler, variometer, vacuum tube, grid condenser and batteries.

3611 West Street, Oakland. The hookup is as follows:

Radio Editor TRIBUNE: (1) How many plates should a fixed condenser have?

2. Is it best for the receivers to be connected to the condenser or the detector?

3. My set consists of an attic antenna, ground, detector, condenser, loose coupler and a pair of 2000-ohm Murdock receivers. I would like to know if I can receive KDN, KVO, KFO, KSL, but not KZM The TRIBUNE.

RODEO RIDERS DARING DEATH IN REHEARSALS

Bulldogging Restored to Program; Many Other Thrillers Planned.

LIVERMORE, June 30.—Cowboys and cowgirls have taken possession of this town and the bright colors of the vaqueros have reached the drab overalls or red and blue. Everybody even remotely connected with the rodeo, which opens Sunday and runs for three days, is affecting the dress of the range, and hundreds of visitors here to see the fun have gone in for vivid colors including bandannas and chaps. The town is profusely decorated, the hotels and restaurants are prepared to cater to the wants of thousands of visitors, and the excitement has been left undone to make the 1922 rodeo the greatest in the history of such events.

It is the hope of the committee in charge to raise sufficient money to pay off the remaining indebtedness on the big field where the rodeo will be held. When the ground is paid for it will be turned over to the American Legion as a memorial to the Livermore Valley boys who fell in the great war. That's one reason for the big show. The other is to prove to the world that the cowboys and cowgirls of the west have not retrograded.

TRY-OUTS ARE REVEALING.
The try-outs which are being held daily are a revelation. These folks from the ranges do not need a crowd to inspire them. With only casual visitors looking on, the performers are daring death every morning, riding wild horses, roping wilder bulls and galloping around the track hanging on by one stirrup.

Manager Joe Aureochea has a number of surprise stunts in store for the spectators. Vera McGinnis has been practicing some thrills that will be presented for the first time and some of the other cowgirls are intent on out-veering Vera, who is claiming the plain and fancy riding championship of the world. The program Sunday will open with the well-known bronco-busting contest in which upwards of fifty cowboys have entered. The winner will receive $250 in cash and another $250 will be divided between the second and third prize winners. The riders this year will be called upon to tame some of the wildest broncos ever brought into this valley. None of the animals had ever been saddled until stabled at the rodeo field, and few of them have been ridden. It is the consensus of opinion among the experts that some of the horses will not be ridden at all, but the cowboys have other ideas on that subject.

BULLDOGGING RESTORED.
Bulldogging will be restored at this year's rodeo, but it won't be as cruelly as the riders are only required to bring the animals to a standstill and will not be permitted to twist them. Four hundred dollars will be divided among the winners of the event.

Everybody will have a chance to ride, or attempt to ride, the bucking bulls, but only experts will take a chance. They can't use a saddle or bridle in this sport, and they must "scratch" their high. Steer-roping contests for teams of two men and for individuals should prove a popular feature. According to the rules, the steer must be given a start of 20 feet and then be roped by hand and horns or by head and one horn. Various time penalties are imposed for improper roping. At the conclusion of the contest, the steer must be on the ground, both hind feet in loop and the contestants on their horses.

Trick riding, fancy roping, wild horse races, men's and girls' relay races, pony express, roman race and many other events are on the daily program.

Livermore Senoritas Are Popular

Here are three Livermore beauties who will be seen in action at the Rodeo next Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. District Attorney Ezra Decoto is in the center. Below, Vera McGinnis, the champion cowgirl and trick rider of the west, is seen doing one of her stunts on a wild horse.

MARIN COUNTY PREPARING FOR BIG CELEBRATION

SAN RAFAEL, June 30.—All Marin county is participating in the arrangements for the coming Fourth of July celebration to take place under the auspices of San Francisco chapter No. 3, Disabled Veterans of the World War, opening July 1 and continuing until July 4.

Prominent officials of Marin county are conferring with local citizens and the veterans in their plans for the four-day celebration, which, it is expected, will attract thousands of people to Larkspur from all parts of California.

The program will begin with a ball Saturday night, July 1, when the veterans will be the guests of the Larkspur fire department. The veterans will again be the guests at dances and entertainments scheduled for July 2 and 3 at Larkspur. A Marathon race from San Rafael to Larkspur will be one of the attractions. Ten elegant trophies are to be offered as prizes, and the Marathon is to be under the auspices of the P. A. A. Army and navy units will take part in the four-day program.

Afternoon and evening dancing and athletic and patriotic events will bring the celebration to an end on July 4.

Benefit Increases Christmas Fund

SAN LEANDRO, June 30.—The initial benefit performance, given last night by the Eagles' lodge of this city to raise funds for the "Christmas Cheer Fund," with which the poor children of San Leandro will be presented with gifts and a Christmas tree, proved highly successful. St. Joseph's hall being crowded to capacity by both San Leandro and residents of the nearby cities. The entire program, consisting of acts of local talent, largely and directed by W. B. Ash was well received by the audience. A second presentation of the performance will be held tonight at St. Joseph's hall.

The following participants in the entertainment donated their services for the occasion: E. F. Beach, A. Galarin, J. W. Howard, Fred Krogh, H. Krogh, M. A. Kelley, J. Thompson, V. Alkon, M. A. Kelley, the Muses M. Thompson and Babe Traves.

Byron Notes

BYRON, June 30.—Last Saturday evening Byron Lodge, I. O. O. F., held an open meeting after the general lodge business had been transacted. The members of the lodge were invited to participate, as were friends. Cards were played and music enjoyed throughout the evening. At midnight ice cream and cake were served in the banquet room. These entertainments will be held every fourth Saturday of each month and all of a different nature. It is hoped to stir up new enthusiasm and break the monotony.

BYRON, June 30.—Some immense barley yields are reported for these sections. On Victoria Island there are 3500 acres in barley and four threshing outfits are busily harvesting. The average is expected to 30 sacks, of 100 pounds each. Fred Cantrell has 2500 acres here and on 1000 acres of it he is harvesting 50 sacks to the acre. On the Byron Tract and on Clifton and other tracts large yields of barley are in prospect. George Nunn of Brentwood threshed 42 sacks of barley to the acre, of the Marquis variety. Others

Brentwood Notes

BRENTWOOD, June 30.—Mrs. Herman Brown left Wednesday evening for San Francisco, where she will remain until after the 4th of July with friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Swift entertained a few friends at their home Friday evening in honor of Mrs. Swift's sister, Mrs. H. Gould of Los Angeles. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. L. Dainty, Alma Collins and the Swift family. Mrs. Gould left Sunday for Walnut Grove.

In that section report record yields. In the Byron district some fine crops are reported. In the hill section Dan Vinegar is harvesting 20 sacks of Marquis to the acre, which is a fine yield, considering no late rains fell.

In the Vasco section west of Byron there is every indication of good harvests of both barley and wheat. Feed conditions are excellent.

'DAIRY MAID' WINS WORLD HONORS AS PRODUCER

Production of Milk, Butter Over Two-Year Period Makes Her Champion.

BYRON, June 30.—The Bridgeford Holstein Company of Patterson, Stanislaus county, have annexed new honors in Adirondack Weistka Dairy Maid, the wonderful California matron. She becomes the world's champion cow on her record of butter and milk production for two years.

The total number of pounds of butterfat was 21,124, which is equivalent to 2715.29 pounds of butter, from 66,301.7 pounds of milk. This record leaves the former world's champion, Canadian cow Bella Pontiac, who set the mark of 2055 pounds of fat last summer, far behind, as it also surpasses the record of 63,876.2 pounds of milk for two years, made by Tilly Alcantara.

Another feature of this perfect cow is that she is the first to have two yearly records above 1000 pounds. She passed Vive La France

News Notes of Vallejo And the U. S. Navy Yard

VALLEJO, June 30.—The City Council yesterday discussed the proposed Carquinez bridge project and directed City Attorney H. A. Gee and City Engineer T. S. Kilkeny to attend the hearing before the army engineers in San Francisco today. The two officials will report to the Council on Saturday.

The restrictions placed on the enlisted men at the navy, as a result of the near-riot here last Saturday night, when the sailors attacked the marines after a baseball game at the navy yard, has been lifted. Business men said their business decreased 30 per cent during the restriction period.

The diver R-2, which has been docked at the yard, was not badly damaged in the recent collision in the lower bay. The damaged plates on the submersible will be renewed by the department mechanics of the station.

Rev. Father Clyde of Pittsburg will officiate at the wedding of Eugene Claus and Miss Bernice Stringer here this evening.

The fact that a number of navy transports and mine-sweepers have been ordered to the station in Vallejo means that the hull department force will not be reduced to any great extent for the next few weeks at least, according to the station officials. The division will spend $110,000 next month.

Dr. J. J. Hogan is representing the Vallejo Chamber of Commerce at the Carquinez straits bridge hearing before the army engineers in San Francisco today.

The Marines are to meet the McCormack Stars of Oakland at the yard diamond tomorrow afternoon. For Sunday the Marines have a game scheduled with Castro Parlor, N. S. G. W. of San Francisco. For July 4 the Marines will meet the Del Monte team of Oakland.

The Native Sons have been invited to attend the installation of officers to be held by Vallejo Parlor, No. 195, Native Daughters of the Golden West, July 9, at Redmen's hall. An entertainment and dance will follow the business meeting.

Now it seems assured that the $500,000 bond election for the purchase of a municipal water system will be held before the primary election in August. The city council has passed a resolution deciding to hold an election. The date was not announced, but may be early in August.

A contract for additional street work to cost $559.13 has been awarded to R. E. Errington by the city.

Announcement has been made of the engagement of Miss Winifred Case, employee of the First National Bank, to Earl Johansson.

Mrs. M. Levine, of San Francisco, was painfully cut and suffered from shock when a sedan in which she was riding plunged into a ditch on the highway near the county infirmary Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Risdon, and daughter, Mrs. A. R. Wilkins and her son, Tommy, and Miss Laura Edwards have returned from a vacation trip which took them as far north as Vancouver Island. They traveled 4000 miles and were gone several weeks.

$1,500,000 FUND FOR COLLEGE OF PACIFIC RAISED

Announcement at Stockton That Buildings Will Be Started at Once.

STOCKTON, June 30.—An announcement was made at College of the Pacific headquarters here immediately after midnight that a crusade to raise $1,500,000 to finance the re-establishment of the institution in this city had been a success. The college at present is located at San Jose.

Half of the $1,500,000 will be used to enlarge the institution's endowment fund, while the remainder will be invested in buildings on a local site donated by the J. C. Smith estate.

Of the total $800,000 was subscribed through the co-operation of the general education board of the Rockefeller Foundation, and $650,000 by Methodists of Northern California, outside of Stockton. Work on the new campus will begin as soon as contracts can be awarded, it is said.

Dr. Tully C. Knoles, president of the college, tonight expressed sincere thanks for the co-operation given the crusade sponsors by residents through Northern California.

'SAFETY FIRST' MOVE STARTED BY DRIVERS' CLUB

Emblems on Autos Designed as Warnings to Minimize Accidents.

The first step in the campaign to minimize automobile accidents was taken today by the Eastbay Safety Council's Safe Drivers' Club, in the naming of automobile windshield emblems showing that the operators believe in "safety first."

Coroner Grant D. Miller, chairman of the council, announced that the emblems are to remind the drivers and others that speed is at the bottom of a great many accidents and fatalities, and as the speed increases so does the chance for accidents and fatalities.

There are 4000 members in the new Drivers' Club and the members have pledged themselves to the following purposes of the organization:

To have reverence for the laws and ordinances that have been created for the safety of the entire community.

To assist in carrying out such laws by cooperating with traffic officers.

To drive carefully at all times and to set a good example by being courteous on the road—and to adhere to the Golden Rule for motorists as follows:

Do as you would expect every other autist to do, if he were in your place and you were the other fellow, whether autist or pedestrian.

Emergencies will arise, but if you will always have your car under control, and be just as thoughtful of others as you are of your own, you are not likely to be involved in an accident.

Be on the lookout for the signals of traffic officers and obey them promptly.

Give warning signals when they are necessary and heed the warning of other drivers.

Give assistance to other drivers when trouble develops on the road. You may call for his assistance another time.

Take your time; speeding leads to accidents and those often cause injury and death.

Teach others safety by practicing it yourself.

WORKERS HONOR VETERAN OF S. P.

H. Englebright, master car repairer of the western division of the Southern Pacific company for the past fifty-three years, was presented with a watch locket by his foremen at a dinner tendered him in the Hotel Oakland last night to celebrate his retirement from active work.

The meeting was attended by railroad officials and employees and glowing tributes to Englebright were paid during the evening. Born in New Bedford, Mass., in 1852, Englebright came to California as a boy of five. He went to work for the old California Pacific railroad, in 1869.

In May, 1892, Englebright was elevated to the position of car foreman and later roundhouse foreman on the San Joaquin division at Fresno, and in 1898 came to San Francisco as general car foreman on the coast division. He came to Oakland in 1900 to take the position from which he retired last night. He lives in this city.

NINETY ARRESTED IN MOVE TO KILL GERMAN REVOLT

Other Cabinet Officials On Death List, Evidence Indicates.

By CARD D. GROAT,
United Press Staff Correspondent.

BERLIN, June 30.—Ninety persons have been arrested in Berlin as a result of discovery of a widespread plot to overthrow the Weimar government.

Prominent cabinet members were marked down for assassination similar to Rathenau's fate, according to evidence seized by the police.

Lieutenant Guenther, former secretary to Ludendorff, was among those arrested. His rooms were searched and letters from Helfferich, Von Jagow, Ludendorff and other Nationalists were found, indicating they had close relations with the conspirators.

MORE ARRESTS EXPECTED.
Guenther, known under several aliases, is believed implicated in the murder of Rathenau.

Authorities are hopeful they have stamped out the spark of a monarchist uprising, but intimate further sensational arrests may follow.

HAMBURG, Germany, June 30 (By International News Service).—A plot for wholesale assassination of Jews in Germany, beginning with Dr. Walter Rathenau, late foreign secretary, has been unearthed by the arrest of Naval Commander Warnecke, it was learned today.

Papers were alleged to have been showing him to be a member of a nation-wide organization known as the "murder exploding detachment." Documents showed that the lives of twelve prominent Jews were marked. In addition to Rathenau they included Theodore Wolff, chief editor of the Berliner Tageblatt, and Max Warburg, a Hamburg banker and brother of Paul M. Warburg, New York banker.

Herr Warburg was to have made a speech here last Saturday, the day Dr. Rathenau was assassinated, but the police, suspecting that an anti-Jewish movement was under way, warned him not to appear.

Latest reports indicate the business at the exchange is growing rapidly.

The Napa Chamber of Commerce pays $20 monthly toward the upkeep of this important exchange. Soda Canyon Farm Center has also voted a monthly sum to finance the project.

Shown By Cherries

NAPA, June 30.—A striking example of the value of pollination is seen at the Russell Imrie ranch, above Napa, where cherry trees have been worked through this process. The sides of the trees that face off-variety trees are well loaded with fruit while on the other hand the opposite sides of the same trees which face trees of their own variety are sparingly dotted with fruit.

ROAD PAVING URGED
HAYWARD, June 30.—A recommendation that the board of directors of the Hayward Chamber of Commerce take steps to bring about joint action of the boards of supervisors of Alameda and Contra Costa counties to have the Crow Canyon road to San Ramon paved was passed by the industries committee of the Chamber of Commerce, it was announced today. In addition to making one of the most scenic drives in the district more accessible, the paving of the road will provide farmers with more convenient marketing of their crops, and will restore the trade to Hayward in automobiles.

The committee also passed a resolution advising the opposition of the chamber to the proposed dissolution of the Southern and Northern railroads. The dissolution of these roads, it is argued, would cut off Hayward from direct through train service which is now given here.

AUTO CAMP PLANS SPEEDED.
HAYWARD, June 30.—Plans for an auto camp here are progressing rapidly. It is believed that before the end of the next month a site will be opened in Memorial park which will be equipped to properly care for a maximum number of campers. It is planned to install gas plates in the old pavilion, and thus provide an open air kitchen for the campers. Showers will be installed, and an attendant employed.

An attempt will be made to get an appropriation of the money from the Hayward Chamber of Commerce.

VETERANS TO BE GUESTS.
HAYWARD, June 30.—Wounded veterans will be the guests of the Hayward post of the American Legion and the Women's Auxiliary during the Ed Township Farm Products Show to be held in August. The show association will also act as host. A special program in honor of the war heroes will be prepared and special concerts played. A special feature of this year's show, it was announced today, will be a baby show, and probably a baby parade. Babies from all over the county will be entered in the contest.

POULTRY BREEDERS.
HAYWARD, June 30.—Practically every poultry breeder in this district is going behind the proposed organization of a poultry breeders' association.

At a meeting held last night, Russell T. Robinson, county agricultural agent, outlined the plan to prospective members. By the plan of the association culling and trapping nesting would be established, thus assuring poultry of a higher productivity to hatcherymen. The flocks would be inspected and the breeders required to live up to the regulation of the association.

CIVIL SERVICE BOARD CITED IN PETERSEN CASE

Contention Raised Charter Is Violated in Cutting Off Back Salary.

Superior Judge James G. Quinn today ordered the Oakland Civil Service board to appear before him on July 10 and show cause why the proceedings of the board in the case of Walter J. Petersen should not be reviewed by the court and the legality of the board's actions passed upon. Judge Quinn's order was issued at the demand of Petersen, through his son, Attorney Cedric Petersen, who has sued for a writ of certiorari to compel the board to reinstate unconditionally W. J. Petersen as captain of the Oakland police.

Petersen recently was reinstated by the Oakland Civil Service board in the position from which he was ousted on September 11, 1920, by Commissioner F. F. Morse, who filed 21 charges of misconduct in office against Petersen. A condition of Petersen's reinstatement, it is alleged, was that he should waive the payment of approximately $4000 back salary. In ordering his reinstatement the board announced the charges against him were unfounded.

Petersen's attorney, in suing for the writ of certiorari, asserts there is no law in the city charter permitting the Civil Service board to include in its resolution of reinstatement a provision against paying any part of the back salary due Petersen.

Garter Device Is Made By Minister

WATSONVILLE, June 30.—Rev. F. E. Howard, who until May 1 of this year was pastor of the First Baptist church of this city, has designed a top on children's stockings, together with a specially constructed garter which is made an integral part of the stocking, but may be removed. The working out of the details of the invention is said to be largely the product of Mrs. Howard's genius.

Howard, for some weeks has been in a hospital in Los Angeles, recovering from after effects of an attack of influenza suffered before he left Watsonville.

Patents have been taken out in the United States and Canada and patents have been applied for in England, France, Germany, Australia and other foreign countries.

CITIZENS RALLY TO NEW BANNER OF PROMOTION

United Movement to Advertise Northern Counties Growing.

The rally to the standard of advancement for Northern California as a whole, as expressed in the editorial which appeared in The TRIBUNE and other leading newspapers of this portion of the state, has met with a response equaled by no other unified effort since the universal response to the call to arms.

The idea already has passed the stage of mere expression and is beginning to resolve itself into action. The keynote of the response

A few of the messages of commendation from financial and other leaders in Oakland follow:

JOSEPH F. CARLSTON, president Central National Bank and Central Savings Bank—I am very much in favor of the idea expressed in the editorial. The thing as a whole appeals to me as one of the most important things ever conceived in this part of the state. We should get at it right away. I think immediate action on the top of the far-reaching appeal would be the editor's best way to crystallize the purposes into action. I am heartily in favor of every phase of the get-together campaign as outlined in the editorial.

R. J. McMULLEN, president and treasurer State Savings Bank—I had just returned from Los Angeles the day before the editorial appeared, and the advisability of such a movement came to my mind very strongly. It certainly seems to be a household in the South —the idea of all pulling together—and I had in mind urging just such a movement as this.

W. W. GARTHWAITE, president of Oakland Bank—was very glad to see it. It is a splendid thing and should meet most hearty approval. It should have been done years ago. It will be very effective, I am certain. I think you will be surprised at its far-reaching effects. It shows the right spirit.

R. L. COFFEY, of the Temple Shant—The Northern California Advancement plan has my heartiest approval. In the first place I should like to see a bridge crossing the Golden Gate because

Northern California has a lot to offer. Properly developed, until now there is a highway road for automobiles out of San Francisco. Northern California has some of the most wonderful mineral springs in the world. If Europe had them they would be known to the four corners of the universe. Northern California has the highest, the finest mountains and rivers and an adequate supply of rain. What Northern California needs is industry and co-operation so that capital will be forced to invest. Nature has been very bountiful to Northern California. I don't tell the ern California and its garden spot to the whole world and may I be permitted to offer my services in any way to this glorious project.

WILLIAM JURGENS, Hotel Oakland—Awakened to the possibilities of Northern California and aware of its natural resources it should be an easy proposition for us to sell it to others less fortunate in climate and location. The editorials printed in the papers have served the purpose of jogging our memories to the advan-

GRANT D. MILLER, Coroner—
We are off to a flying start. The editorial printed in the newspaper has accomplished more than the writer ever supposed, for it has brought forcibly to the attention of every business and professional man in Northern California that

There is no luck in the success—it is ours to earn. We must fight for it every inch of the way. Due to the fact that we have not been conducting a proper salesmanship fight the other fellow has the jump

The newspapers are blazing the trail and our path is comparatively easy to follow if only we stay in one bunch and do not wander off in every direction.

GEORGE EBEL, Fulton Theater.—We of the theater world realize only too well the necessity for co-operation. It gives me great pleasure to pledge my hearty support to a movement whereby Northern California will be united into one market, with every city, town and hamlet working for himself and the other fellow. That is the sort of thing that will win for Northern California the place it deserves in the world. It will make us a hot spot of the world, and in addition to that possesses tremendous monetary possibilities.

The newspapers are to be complimented for their unified stand and cooperation. They have assured that the show people, who can be the greatest boosters in the world, are back of them every step of the way. We have broken ground for a great project. It cannot be overestimated.

GEORGE S. MERIDITH, vice-president Farmers and Merchants' Savings Bank—I think the idea expressed in the editorial urging cooperation for the development and advancement of Northern California is very wonderful. In this connection the recent visit of the Shriners was a fine thing as if gave them a chance to see what we have in this part of California, and the persons in the East know much about the bay region as they don't get much of an opportunity to hear about it or to see it. We must do the way they do in Southern California—let the rest of the world know what we have here.

JAMES H. MACLAFFERTY, Oakland insurance man. — The plan for Northern California to get together and look after its own interests is strictly a business.

proposition. Any privately managed corporation would have done something like this a long time ago. It is unscientific to let the various angles of a business run themselves without the domination and direction of a single head.

In this case those of us who believe that an important part of California lies north of the Tehachapi are simply uniting to give more impetus and better direction to the marvelous powers that lie in our natural and developed resources. Northern California must believe in and practice scientific management of our gigantic business, and the first step toward this is the union of all interested parties. It would seem that we have made a start. The spirit manifested in this campaign has heartened those who have long been in the movement and has attracted hosts of new converts. The publication of the editorial in all Northern California newspapers on the same day, voicing the same sentiment, in the same words, is certainly a sign of the times. When the newspapers are united on an idea all other interests must naturally follow.

DAVID D. OLIPHANT JR., attorney-at-law—This is a great movement for Northern California. We need the advertising and the leadership of the press and the must be followed up by intelligent community co-operation. We must act as a unit. I urge the formation of a great inter-community council on which would sit representatives of all of the communities of Northern California. This should be a council for action. All communities have expressed a willingness to get together, now let us organize a great council to make the co-operation effective.

WILKENS BANDIT
SUSPECT ADMITS
SHARE IN TRAGEDY

Real Slayer Is Alleged to Be Man Whose Parents Live in Chicago.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 30.—The San Francisco detective bureau has asked the authorities of Chicago to search for Frank N. Mason, alias Fred McGreggor, 26 years old, who is wanted here in connection with the murder on the night of May 30 of Mrs. Ann Wilkens.

Mason is believed to be the man who fired the shot which ended the life of the woman. His father is said to be the proprietor of a delicatessen store in Chicago. According to dispatches received in this city the Chicago police learned that Mason moved from his former address in Chicago.

Captain Duncan Matheson, chief of the detective bureau, today admitted that he had wired the Chicago police to search for Mason. At the same time it became known that a man is being held in the city prison here, incommunicado, who is said to have confessed to having taken part in the holdup which cost the life of Mrs. Wilkens. The man, although the police refuse to divulge his name, is believed to be Clayton Hall, alias Jack Harris, 29 years old, and a son of a wealthy and respected Santa Rosa family, who was brought here and placed in jail on a grand larceny charge. Hall is said to have confessed that he acted as driver of the bandit car and police are seeking two other youths, one of whom is Mason.

"We have a man under arrest from whom we have secured a confession and we are seeking a couple of other men in the Wilkens murder case," said Chief of Police O'Brien. He refused further information.

One of the other men sought by the police is said to have fired the shot that killed Mrs. Wilkens; the other is believed to have committed the robbery, while the man under arrest drove the bandit car. Chief O'Brien stated the story told by the man in custody coincides in detail with that related by Henry Wilkens, husband of the slain woman.

RESORT TO OPEN.
SAN FRANCISCO, June 30.—The Three Cities Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring a Fourth of July Day celebration which will be one feature of the opening of Pacific City, the half-million dollar amusement resort near this city.

COOPERATION TO BOOST URGED
BY ROSBOROUGH

Postmaster Says Business Men of Oakland Must Pull Together.

Greater community cooperation was urged yesterday by Postmaster Joseph J. Rosborough in a talk before the Mutual Business Club at the Hotel Oakland.

"The business men of this city must pull together," he declared, "if Oakland is to accomplish all of which it is capable and reach the goal nature intended."

"They must decide to support some civic organization capable of guiding their efforts along some one channel. The Chamber of Commerce is that organization and should have the support of the entire city."

Oakland contributes only 18 cents per capita to the Oakland Chamber of Commerce, while Stockton contributes $1.50 per capita to its chamber. Every city in the state contributes more than Oakland does. It is manifest if we are to progress this condition must be changed.

Decision of the club's policy in the matter of urging Oakland to raise the salaries of certain public officials will be made at a meeting of the board of directors of the club tonight, it was announced.

MAN SWALLOWED TOISON.
SAN FRANCISCO, June 30.—Joseph Stole, 53 years old, of 315 Van Ness, despondent through illness and by reason of a broken arm, swallowed poison early today. He is in a serious condition at the Central Emergency hospital.

Arms Are Issued to Foreigners in China

CANTON, China, June 30 (By International News Service).—With the prospect of further fighting in the vicinity of Canton following the reported victory of Sun Yat Sen's troops over those of Chen Chung Ming, 80 miles north of here, the foreign municipal council has issued rifles and ammunition to all foreigners, who are concentrated on Shamoon Island. The tolling of church bells will signal danger to foreigners, it was announced. No trouble is anticipated, it was stated, and these measures are of a precautionary nature against looting.

All indications point to reparations by Sun's forces to attempt to retake the city. The period of the glacial age has been placed at 30,000 years.

LA FAVORITA (A TANTO AMOR)

Giuseppe de Luca 74591 $1.75
In this lovely aria the king bids farewell to his old love, singing, with elaborate sarcasm, that nothing will brighten the romance of Ferdinand. De Luca contrives to bring out the full force of the music.

VILLANELLE.....Amelia Galli-Curci 74639 1.75
Galli-Curci sings this lovely, captivating aria in a manner which reveals new proof of this great artist's versatility.

SONG WITHOUT WORDS.....Mischa Elman 74607 1.75
This touching "Violin Song" is one of Mendelssohn's rarest "Songs Without Words." Elman, in arranging it for the violin and in playing it himself, has given it an added beauty.

LOMBARDI (OVAL VOLUTTA).....Alda-Carusi-Jourmet 95211 2.50.
In this recital the violoncello combines in dramatic fashion, and concludes with a colorful and brilliant note.

SYMPHONY IN G MINOR.....Philadelphia Orchestra 74609 1.75
Rovinsky conducted the symphony. The music here recorded is the Master from the Third Symphony, which is perhaps the best level of the three.

CONDITIONS AT THE YOUNG HOME

If it is as bad around the Soldiers' Home at Yountville as has been represented, a community and a county, perhaps a state and a nation, are in deep disgrace. That harpies should hover around and rob aged veterans of their pensions as soon as drawn, plying them with bootleg poison and throwing them in the gutter as soon as despoiled; that a regular business should be made of this sort of thing and everybody know of it, with nobody able to stop it—though a county, a state and a national government would seem to have jurisdiction—is one of the anomalies of government. Such a situation may serve to explain the organization and acts of vigilance committees, though of course not to excuse them.

These veterans are old men, weak in will power and physical stamina. They fall an easy prey to harpies, male and female. It is charged that when they are not robbed outright by out-and-out criminals they are despoiled by sponging and conscienceless relatives. They are lucky to survive the ordeal that follows pay day—and some of them don't. Poisonous liquor and maltreatment by thugs in efforts to obtain their money have proven fatal in more than one instance.

It can be said with emphasis that something ought to be done about this, even if it is not readily possible to say just what can be done. The matter is by no means disposed of by the assertion that the veterans should look out for themselves. They are wards of the people and as such are entitled to protection.

There is a feeling that the local authorities may not have done all that is possible. They would certainly be justified in going to the last extremity. The Grand Jury would be justified in straining every point, and officials who do not act to the last possible limit of the law should be taken in hand. Then if the law shall be found defective it will be the legislature's place to strengthen it.

It will be creditable all around if such conditions are permitted to continue.

Senator Watson of Georgia appears to have had technically the best of a run-in with Senator Borah of Idaho over George Washington's attitude in matters that would have come within the purview of the Volstead Act had there been such a measure in his day. The senator cited a letter from Washington to a ship captain which contained instructions about trading a slave for a hoghead of rum and other supplies. While Senator Watson made a dubious point, the entire controversy was piffing. It got nobody anywhere in any direction. The customs of Washington's time were very far from fitting the present. And there is need in the United States Senate of concentration on several things that are pertinent to the here and now.

The married veterans are having the time of their convalescent lives in their convalescence. They are meeting with the same hospitality that was extended other recent gatherings, and the towns and communities of California will continue to honor and entertain them as long as they linger. No state is more appreciative of the great service they rendered, or more sympathetic with their mishaps from the fortunes of war. From the nature of things they cannot make the dazzling impression that the gaily caparisoned Shriners did, but there is patriotic realization of the part they played at a critical time, and a feeling that all that can be extended them in the way of entertainment and appreciation will not be too much.

The latest radio miracle is the transmission of a picture across the Atlantic. And indeed, it classes as a miracle to send anything of that nature by that method. What is reproduced in this connection as a picture may not be a distinct artistic triumph, but if the idea has been hit upon it is not likely to be a great while till perfect work is achieved. Sending pictures by radio today doesn't seem as impossible as sending conversation by wire did fifty years ago.

COURTESY IN BUSINESS.

William Gibbs McAdoo, more or less known, is out with a declaration that courtesy in business pays. This seems to be regarded as something of a discovery, and perhaps it is. Courtesy is a polish not characteristic of a new country. Americans are noted for their brusqueness. It is believed the reason they do not make greater headway abroad commercially is that they are not inclined to observe the small amenities, but come at their business in a summary way that offends the punctiliousness of other peoples.

But this fault is being corrected. Those who reflect can see where customs in this regard are different from those of, say, twenty-five years ago. The gruff manner is giving way to greater suavity. Business firms are impressing upon their employees the desirability of extending the smaller courtesies in their business contact. Telephone girls always say "thank you." Formerly they did not. The bank cashier says "thank you" through the wicket to the depositor. He has not always been that ceremonious.

While Mr. McAdoo has not evolved a new idea, he is entitled to the credit of having brought to more extended notice a valuable one that is not yet too closely observed.

BATHING COSTUMES SHOCK.

One of the very few discordant notes sounded in the volume of praise and appreciation that went up from the Shriners was the comment of Chief of Police Miller of Atlantic City on bathing costumes. He is reported to have said that "the exposure of the bare legs of girls that goes with the wearing of California bathing suits is indecent."

It is not a new experience to hear a visitor from the prim sections express surprise at what they see that is different from their own; but it was hardly expected that Atlantic City would be shocked by the California bathing dress. From occasional accounts that come from there it was the impression that the celebrated "Board Walk" afforded sophistication that is not likely to be surpassed by any bathing beach in California.

But if Chief of Police Miller states it right, our impressions have been wrong. He says that "bare legs are barred there." Until recently, he goes on to explain, the girls at Atlantic City wore silk or mohair bathing suits, with skirts and bloomers. Now some of them have taken to knitted suits, with an abbreviated skirt. If anybody at Atlantic City wears skirts or bloomers when they bathe on the beach it is likely that California will be willing to drop out of the comparison. That concession to modesty is akin to that of the cynical theater man who, when an ordinance was enacted prohibiting ballet girls appearing with unclothed limbs, put them in pantaloons—as well as the legs of the piano.

The Atlantic City visitor was "shocked" at bare legs on California beaches. All that can be said is that his emotions are susceptible to a chief of police. These officials are believed to see enough of the world and the doings of the people to make them immune to such shocks.

PSYCHOLOGY OF THE DEFAULTER.

A great many who take account of things that happen and of people who bring them about must experience difficulty in understanding the psychology of the bank defaulter. He goes blithely ahead for months or years, taking the money of which he is the custodian until it totals up a large sum, and when discovered, turns to and cheerfully makes a clean breast of it, industriously assisting the expert to check up.

He generally seems to take credit upon himself for being able to explain things that are mystifying to the accountant who has been called in. Sometimes he beseeches the judge to hurry and send him up. The mystery is how he can go on so long and so successfully, and then lend a hand in straightening out his tangle with such apparent relish.

And possibly there is another phase difficult to understand. That is, how so many defaulters get away with it in the face of so much experting on the part of bank authorities themselves, and so many examinations by state and government officials who are hired at very respectful salaries to detect just such aberrations.

A recent Woodland case is in point, but it differs but slightly from many others, the details of which have been given publicity.

The rule has been so unvarying that something like relief was experienced in a case where the defaulter stood on his "dignity" and refused to talk, permitting the officials and their experts to explore the wreckage unassisted by the wrecker and find out for themselves the extent of the disaster.

Alameda has done something that no other municipality in California has done—lowered the rate of its municipal tax. To do this its city council reduced the pay of its police and firemen. Without discussing the merits of the action it can be said that it is unique—a solitary instance. The trend everywhere else is directly the other way.

DAILY ALMANAC

Parfinkle in the Wilds.
(In the Manner of Shoes, to Some Extent.)

Parfinkle came in this morning, out of breath and cigars, looking for shoes. When he informed him of the old gentleman's departure for the restful nooks, he assumed an out and injured air and for three seconds refused to take the perfect we tendered him. "Why," he asked, "did he not tell me he was going?" I assured the ingrate that Shoes had been obliged to depart in a hurry for reasons best known to himself, and that he had no time to send out engraved announcements. However, wouldn't I do? Not at all. The cigars I smoked were inferior and my religion not that of Shoes, who hasn't any. "I have just finished the damned old grouch," said Parfinkle, "and I want to report."

Assuring him that Shoes had vested in me full power of attorney and had left the keys to the humidor, I chuckled the geezer under the chin and handed him another cigar. He spat out the window, sniffed his quid and remained silent as long as he could stand it, which was thirty seconds by the clock.

I went forth (said Parfinkle) into the high roads and low roads of life seeking that which I knew not. I have long suspected that there existed a definite reason for all things. I fully believe, for instance, that the common house-fly, if hitched tandem and trained, could be made to run an ice-cream freezer. I believe, too, that some day a clever man will discover that distillation of the mustard of the field will provide us with an automobile fuel or a summer drink.

And so, along the same line of thought, I conceived the ponderous idea that something or some one had been responsible for making the wild flowers wild.

I approached a wild rose (pursued Parfinkle) as it glowered on a fence-post and pointed its thorns at me threateningly. "What," I asked, "in the dim and distant past crossed your ambition? What's eating you, anyway? Who gave you a mad on?"

"Hell!" (Parfinkle said the rose said) who wouldn't be wild. I was a perfectly tame, pleasant citizen, blooming in an old maid's garden, when I ran across that which scrambled my disposition. It was in a book of poems and it ran thus:

Gather ye rosebuds while ye may,
Old Time is still a-flying,
And this same flower that smiles today
Tomorrow will be dying.

"That was too much—but a few pages on this thing have into my mind of pink vision:

Let us crown ourselves with rosebuds before they are withered.

"Isn't that enough to make any body wild? How would you, a perfectly healthy, sweet-smelling creature of Nature, like to be reminded twice in the same day that you had but a few days to live? Not at all! I tore myself loose from my anchorage, straddled a breeze and set out to find the perpetrator of the outrage.

Now for a few days and will have done my journey when the first wind blows west. That's the direction this so-called poet took. He'll think I'm a bramble-bush before I'm through with him."

I left the ill-natured weed (went on Parfinkle) and approached a wild violet. "What's made you so hopping mad?" I quizzed the Johnny-jump-up. "Some poet wrote you in the papers."

"How'd you guess it?" groused the violet. "Some one told you. Sure it was a poet. Who else would have put forth this rot:

When daisies pied and violets blue
And lady-smocks all silver-white
And cuckoo-buds of yellow hue
Do paint the meadows with delight.

The cuckoo then, on every tree,
Mocks married men.

"Do you think for half a minute that in company of a lady-smock or a cuckoo-bud or in any other drunken condition? Or a cuckoo-bud? Or all three—and painting the meadow red? I have always been respectable and I always will be. Furthermore, I'll not provide a background for that imberbe cuckoo who roosts in the tree and makes merry with that noxious insect, marriage. That's why I'm wild—and what in hell are you going to do about it?"

I am almost through (Parfinkle persisted). Just one more query I have. I am in a musing mood with that out of me, I'd have the answer. I approached a perfectly peaceful-looking California poppy, nodding half-asleep in the shadow of a bunch of yellow-pine needles. "You don't look so very wild," I began. And with that, the bloom leaped up and bit my cigar-finger.

"O, don't!" screamed the poppy. "Don't I though? You just watch me!"

And that yellow-livered blossom ran amuck in the field, scaring the wits out of three squirrels and biting the tail of an inoffensive Jack-rabbit.

"Whadye think of me now?" he demanded.

"You're the wildest yet," I assured him (said Parfinkle).

"Who did I say?"

"That's a good name for him," growled the poppy. "That's as bad a name for him as I could think of myself. I have called him an ass and a jack-ass—but 'Poet' that fits him better."

I calmed the troubled soul (Parfinkle assured us) before inquiring further, and then asked him who had done this to his tender spirit.

"I quoted the poppy," working himself into another frenzy. "Who? Who made me what I am today? A wild, wild flower instead of a gentle proposition, eating out of the hand and being a pet of the household? Who? Why, the dog-ass, ill-assorted, tatter-bellied idiot who wrote me, a tender blossom, into the dictionary as 'Eelschismia Californica!'"

NOTES AND COMMENT

The idea of an untrammelled press in Michigan is more or less of a joke, according to this showing from the Brooklyn Eagle: "The arrest of the publishers of practically all the daily newspapers of Detroit and of the agents of a number of dailies published elsewhere, including the New York Times, for the violation of a Michigan State law prohibiting the publication of racing news or the sale of papers containing such news, raises a question of vital interest affecting the freedom of the press, which is being met in dignified fashion by the defendants. Last October a minor court declared the law unconstitutional, and no attempt has been made to enforce it until the present proceedings."

The Brookline Eagle is in doubt. "Fickett's charge on Governor Briggs, the third day of the battle of Gettysburg, has been called the greatest charge in history. Orators, historians and poets have heeded to make it famous. And now we are told that 2000 United States marines are hiking to the Gettysburg field to 'reproduce' this phase of the battle, 'under modern conditions,' including the use of aircraft. There is no disposition to caricature the charge or the battle. But the experiment is of exceedingly doubtful value."

The New York Herald-Herald of a timely letter carrier. Henry M. Drachman, a letter carrier in Brooklyn, saw a baby fall from the upper window of 1066 President street yesterday and caught the infant in his mail bag, saving it from serious injury, possibly from death. Then he went on his business for Uncle Sam. A letter carrier never knows what he may be called on to do while on his rounds, and a little thing like catching a baby on the fly would scarcely interrupt the routine of his task.

From the Watchman and Examiner: "A performance of the 'President Play' at Oheavannagau during May were attended by 33,000 persons. Included in the number were 4327 foreigners, more than half of them Americans. Performances are being given every Monday this month to accommodate the overflow from the regular Sunday presentations."

A darr hurled by Capper's Weekly: "Colonel Brookhart, Iowa's Republican nominee for Senator, says the Federal Reserve System is run by the 'Nonpartisan League of Wall Street.' A dreadful thing to say of Wall Street. We didn't know an Iowa could be so vituperative."

The Washington Star doubts if the flapper can be laughed down: "Suggestions that the flapper be laughed out of attention have not proved practical. Nobody could have a hearty laugh for every flapper loomed up in the landscape. There are limits to human endurance."

The Oregonian evinces a disposition to pick at us: "In California they suspend a Federal agent who falls to and liquor when ordered to raid. Advance information makes raiding ineffective, but there must be goals."

SPIRIT OF STATE PRESS

PHILIPPINE INDEPENDENCE.

To the Editor of The Tribune:

I have read your editorial entitled, "Philippines Must Wait," which we consider good advice—to wait until a more opportune time for us to be free. Of course, willingly we take America's counsel, knowing that every step she takes in solving the Philippine problem is for the interest of the whole Philippine race. In other words, we have faith in the United States' good intentions. But to wait until the time ripe for the Philippines to be an independent nation places the Philippines in a state of "watchful waiting."

President Harding has given us an indefinite period in which the United States will fulfill her part of the covenant entered into between the people of America and the people of the Philippines. The Philippines cannot always remain jealous of other countries which have granted independence and guaranteed by the Allies, inasmuch as they are as capable of governing themselves as these countries.

We have one thing to say to the people of America, and I hope they will listen to us: The progress we have made since the government of the islands came into our hands shows conclusively that, even if the independence of the archipelago is given at this time, the twenty years of constructive effort which has wrought complete order will not be at stake, as the entire Philippine people are one for an immediate, absolute and complete independence.

We are highly grateful that you appreciate the orderly manner in which we presented our claims to Washington. We have thought that this is the only feasible way to win our cause, and this is also in accordance with the principles which America has always upheld. But there are two things which we regret: America has denied us. First, in the League of Nations the colonies of other countries were represented, with the exception of the colony of the United States, that is, the Philippines. Second, the Philippines were denied a seat in the Limitation of Armament Conference, while the representatives of the colonies of Great Britain were allowed to get in.

The Four Power treaty, which is one of the most outstanding accomplishments of the Limitation of Armament Conference, guarantees the peace of the Pacific and the protection of the small nations thereon, thus removing the seemingly insurmountable obstacle, the Japanese menace, to the concession of the Philippines' freedom. The removal of this obstacle affords the United States an opportunity to entertain no further fear of Japanese aggression in the Philippines, once we are made a free people.

Believing that the United States has still another plan whereby the safety of the future Philippine Republic can be insured, the Philippines are willing to wait, but at no distant time, although everything new could be seen, therefore, that the removal of this obstacle affords the United States an opportunity to entertain no further fear of Japanese aggression in the Philippines, once we are made a free people.

About YOUR HEALTH

Why Good Health Waits
in Fresh Air and Sunshine

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
Commissioner of Health, New York City.

When a doctor sets out to scold there are no limits to his reproaches. He finds fault with everybody. So now I'll begin.

Let me start with the city woman or girl. When she has occasion to run up and down stairs once or twice, or to run to catch a street car, what beautiful red cheeks she has! Watch her for ten minutes. The flush disappears and a deadly whiteness of cheek and lips reveals the truth—poor circulation and lack of red blood.

Observe the pasty complexion of the business man who never knows the joy of woods and fields. Even though he may have fairly hard muscles from gymnasium training, he lacks the glow and polish which only fresh air and sunlight can give.

The farmer who works all day in the fields may lack the bloom of perfect health. Why? Because he sleeps in a stifling, airless bedroom. He has been taught that "night air is dangerous"—the most absurd nonsense. All the good of his wholesome daily life is neutralized by his vicious house practices.

The heart cannot perform its functions unless the blood is loaded with never-ending supplies of oxygen. There must be fresh air.

Then there must be some stimulus to cause the heart to beat strongly and frequently. This means systematic exercise or else the gentle stimulation which comes from happiness, from pleasure in work, from joy of nature or delight in your surroundings.

Fresh air is good for you. No matter where it may be—in country or city—the out-of-doors will add to your health.

But to exert its full healing effects something must be added to the air and sunshine. There must be a pleasing and appealing prospect.

As I write these lines I am on a railroad train. We are skirting a great river. The tipples and shadows of the water beat the eye.

On the land side there are trees and shrubs in blossom. The green of the forests and the attractive cottages we pass awaken dreams of romance. There are children at play everywhere, and birds are seen in flight.

Of course, you need not leave the city to see nature in all her beauty. There are parks in every community where the peaceful and pastoral scenes of the real country are to be gazed upon by whosoever wills.

SPEED LIMIT A PROBLEM EVERYWHERE.
Most countries have had their little tussle with the problems of the speed limit for automobiles. There have been few, if any, satisfactory solutions; partly, perhaps, because there is an element of relativity about computing a motorist's speed per hour that seems to require the services of an Einstein rather than of a police officer, and partly because a well-mannered stretch of highway literally cries out for a higher rate of progress.

Thus, the straight, white, poplar-lined roads of France obviously invited quicker movement than the allotted thirty kilometers per hour. And not at all who exceeded the limit could be exactly classed among the jeaus as driving "furiously." However, France, no doubt thinking that much of the responsibility for the safety of the roads might be transferred from the letter of the law to the good sense of the motorists themselves, has now decided to do away with the speed limit altogether. Probably experience will show this to be an essentially wise decision.

LOVE TANGLE IS TO BE KEPT OUT OF POLICE COURT

Berkeley Couple to Go on a Honeymoon; Lonely Man Goes Own Way.

BERKELEY, June 20.—Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Mittal, bride and groom of less than a week, will be allowed to enjoy their honeymoon undisturbed by court action.

Hugh Frank Ronald, the third person in the latest Berkeley triangle, is packing his bag and is preparing to find solace for his unrequited love in the mountains. "He'd better leave," contributes Mrs. Margaret Hare, mother of Mrs. Mittal, "who enters as the fourth principal in the tangled romance which found its way to the police station yesterday when Ronald was taken into custody for threatening the life of the young bride, after she had refused to elope with him."

Mrs. Mittal who, before her marriage of a week ago, was Mrs. Bessie Kellar, has just turned 25. Ronald, the young woman says, is 47.

Both Mrs. Mittal and Ronald today decided that they would not air their troubles in court. The Mittals are planning an automobile honeymoon trip starting tomorrow, in which they will tour the south and they declare that they refuse to allow Ronald to upset their plans.

A disturbing peace charge was at first planned by Mrs. Mittal after she had reported to the police that Ronald had taken to camping on her doorstep and of otherwise annoying her.

Ronald, on the other hand, declared that he would begin action to get back a diamond engagement ring, furniture, money and other things which he had given Mrs. Mittal before her latest marriage. Furthermore, he said, that the young woman had promised to become his wife on July 1.

Mittal is a divorcee of Robert of Great Falls, Montana, where he and his bride met following the latter's divorce from Roy Kellar. At present the Mittals are with the bride's parents at 1629 Francisco street.

Mrs. Mittal has a 5-year-old daughter by her former marriage. Ronald resides at the St. George Hotel, Oakland, and is a dealer by occupation.

Ronald, after conferring with Judge Robert Edgar, headed the latter's advice that he try to forget the young woman now that she has the will of him. He declared he would leave the bay region.

Building Trades To Observe July 4

July 4 will be a non-work day for the men in the building trades, according to a statement issued by Charles Gurney, secretary of the organization, today, in which he stated that the men of the building trades would be observed. Gurney also called attention to the fact that the Central Council and a part of the Building Trades Council.

Helped Unknown White Man

A stranger, with scarcely strength to climb the steps, dragged himself into the FONG WAN HERB CO. store, said that although he was an able mechanic, he was without money as he had been too ill to work for nearly two years. He asked the FONG WAN HERB CO. SPECIALIST to supply him with medicine to cure his ailment. FONG WAN DID NOT hesitate because of the failure of others to bring relief to this man, for he not only has faith in the FONG WAN HERB CO. but he is a native of the same place. He has on file the names of 5000 patients who have dealt with him during the past seven years.

The stranger had heard of many marvelous cures made by this specialist. He had tried the offer and began to feel better. Within three weeks he was not only strong and well but able to go to work. He obtained a position in the Moore Shipyard and soon paid for his herbs with the money he had earned.

It is not the policy of the FONG WAN HERB CO. to make public the deeds, charitable work and little acts of kindness, but because a newly arrived herb specialist has adopted this method of advertising, the FONG WAN HERB CO. would cite this one instance of aid rendered to a man in need. The following testimonial, with photo, given by Mr. Gorr, corroborates the foregoing statements:

For about four and one-half years I suffered from dysentery. I gradually grew worse and worse and finally I was unable to work. I tried numerous doctors and spent four months at various hospitals, without any benefit. At last I decided to try the FONG WAN HERB CO. SPECIALIST. I was known as the most reliable and successful of his herb treatment. I am in splendid physical condition and am feeling fine. Words cannot express my gratitude. I am a trades union worker and I will gladly furnish them. If any person desires further details I will gladly furnish them.

The nephew of Mr. Y. T. Dang, interpreter and manager of the DON WOO HERB CO., came from China about a year ago. The boy took sick at the Immigration station on Angel Island and was transferred to a San Francisco hospital. He suffered with terrible headache. The doctor called it meningitis and applied ice, but the boy grew continually worse. His friend asked him to try the FONG WAN HERB SPECIALIST. He was widely known as the most reliable and successful of his herb treatment. I am in splendid physical condition and am feeling fine. Words cannot express my gratitude. WAR ON ROOSTERS GROWS

BERKELEY, June 30.—Because "the activities of the day are governed to a certain extent by the amount of undisturbed sleep the individual obtains in the fresh air," Dr. Albert Sytes, local dentist and president of the Claremont club, has joined forces with Miss Gertrude Charny, junior university student, before the city council in a campaign to banish the rooster. Dr. Sytes this morning petitioned the city fathers, wherein he voiced the endorsement of the Claremont club in the movement.

"Many residents of Claremont complain that they are unable to make use of their sleeping porches or even open their windows because of the early morning serenade of the rooster," said Dr. Sytes. Claremont is supposed to be a select and fashionable district, but from the barnyard chorus one might imagine he was in a suburb of Berkeley.

City Attorney Lemuel Sanderson is digging into the law to determine if an ordinance against Berkeley's chattering might be construed as sex discrimination. The original petition filed with the city council by Miss Charny, representing 300 residents, and Dr. Sytes' communication, have been referred to the city attorney.

WOMAN DEMANDS $10,000 DAMAGES FROM D. J. MEADS

Mrs. Mary Mondell Alleges Assault at Alameda Last August.

Mrs. Mary Mondell of Hawks Park, Florida, brought suit here today for $10,000 damages against O. J. Meads, president of an Oakland catering company and head of a chain of restaurants, bearing his name, for an assault which Mrs. Mondell charges Meads attempted against her in Alameda last August.

Mrs. Mondell is residing temporarily at 2629 Eagle avenue, Alameda. The suit also embodies a demand for more than $400 which Mrs. Mondell says she spent in traveling from Florida to Alameda at Meads' invitation.

According to Mrs. Mondell she first met Meads in Hawks Park in May, 1921. She charges Meads persuaded her to accept a job as a waitress in his restaurant at Alameda. Meads would find employment for herself and two small sons.

When she arrived in Alameda, Meads told her that the restaurant was a success and that she should stay. Meads informed her that it had not been his intention to find employment for her because it would make more inconvenient for him to call on her.

The alleged attempted attack, according to Mrs. Mondell's complaint, occurred on August 17, 1921, and resulted in her suffering bruises about the arms.

Meads' catering company offices are at 470 Seventh street. He lives at 1635 Ninety-second avenue. At Meads' San Francisco offices today it was stated that Mead had branded the action as "blackmail pure and simple." Mrs. Mondell, according to Meads' statement, it was said, is a native of Florida and came here with her husband at Meads' expense to live. When Meads was relieved of his duties at the August 17, it was stated, his wife demanded $20,000, and the court action followed.

Alameda Veterans Oppose Pay Cut

Prince Wins Paradise Pass

Royal Briton Wiggle Champ
Rolls China 'Craps' Natural

By CLARENCE DUBOSE. (United Press Staff Correspondent). TOKYO, June 30.—The Prince of Wales is going to live a long time and go to Heaven when he dies.

He gained that valuable and pleasant information during his Far Eastern tour—to say nothing of picking up a few shiploads of presents ranging from the Siamese white elephants to Japanese jewels.

Also, His Royal Highness demonstrated, upon occasion, rare skill as a contortionist. If the king business ever slumps in England, he should worry. He could be an acrobatic headliner in the most exciting vaudeville circles—according to the class he showed in the Daibutsu Temple at Kyoto.

"See the Prince did the hashira kuguri at Kyoto. That means two things. First, a celestial ticket for the hereafter, and second, highest prize as an agile contortionist here below."

Prince Wins Paradise Pass

when the priests gave him his ticket.

He was prowling around Kowloon, during his stop at Hong-Kong, having a lot of fun exploring native shops and temples in the Chinese quarter. He dropped into a temple where an ancient soothsayer presided over a collection of "lucky sticks" bamboo splints upon which are written Chinese ideographs. You shake, rattle and roll and read your fate, just as with African dominoes. The Prince rolled 'em out as though he knew his business.

Some who saw it opined that they'd bet he could shoot a wicked game of craps. Anyhow, he won. The aged presiding genius of the place peered, with amazement, at the lucky sticks. "Never before have I seen the like!" he croaked.

"My father's father said that once he heard of such a throw—but that was rumor. Now, with my own eyes, in my old age, I see it—the one best throw of the 38,276 combinations that are possible."

"But what does it mean?" asked the Prince when this was interpreted.

"It means," he was told, "that you will live a very great many years, always enjoy great happiness and that everything you attempt will be successful."

"That's fair enough," said the Prince of Wales, and left a handsome contribution to the temple.

PRINCE WORKS FAST.

In one of the columns of the Daibutsu, or Great Buddha, Temple at Kyoto, there is a narrow aperture through which only the most wiry and sinuous and slender athlete can wiggle. Great virtue is supposed to attach to a successful passage. If you can get through there you will have no difficulty entering the Pearly Gates, according to local tradition. In fact, the guardians of the temple give a formal certificate to "one who do the hashira kuguri—which is reputed to be prima facie evidence of the possessor's right to pass into paradise."

The Prince made it in two minutes and thirty seconds, flat, and only tore one trouser leg—while every near breaking all official records. The lower record known was made in 1886, when a gentleman squirmed through in fifty minutes, losing en route his entire kit, both socks and a small section of his left ear. So it becomes clearly evident that Wales is good.

"Rather a valuable possession," the Prince said, "I shall keep it."

RODEO BOOSTERS VISIT OAKLAND

Boy Guests at City Camp Will Return

With their faces bronzed, and in perfect health as a result of living for two weeks in the outdoors, about 25 boys, the first to be sent as guests of the city's good fellows to the Oakland municipal camp in the Sierra, will return tomorrow afternoon. They will arrive at First and Broadway at 1:30 o'clock, and be met by parents and friends.

Tomorrow at 8:30 a. m. the first contingent of 15 girls will be sent to the camp for two weeks in the mountains.

Geraldine and Lou Forget Differences

NEW YORK, June 30.—Geraldine Farrar and Lou Tellegen have decided to have a happy ending to their romance, after all, according to Zits, a theatrical weekly. The famous diva and her matinee idol husband, whose sensational matrimonial difficulties started the theatrical world last summer, are reported to have effected a reconciliation.

Tellegen, according to reports published in Zits, has moved his things back to the house on West Seventy-fourth street from which "Gerry" hastily vacated following their separation.

Dawes Is Leaving His Troubles Behind

WASHINGTON, June 30 (By International News Service).—Charles G. Dawes, the dynamic director of the budget in its first experimental year, wound up his official duties in Washington today and prepared to go back home to Chicago to engage in private business. "And I'm not packing up my troubles in my old kit bag either," General Dawes informed friends. "I'm leaving 'em behind me." The heavy work of getting the budget system under way has been accomplished, General Dawes believes.

Northern California Fruit, Literature, to Be Sent to Tennessee Conclave.

California Fruit and Alameda county literature will be featured at the annual convention of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs opening in Chattanooga, Tenn., July 10, in accordance with the booster campaign plans for Northern California. Mrs. Gladys Barnard, president of the Oakland Business and Professional Women's Club, and Miss LaRue Olney of the San Jose organization, will be the official representatives of the district.

Arrangements are being perfected whereby Northern California products will be presented as souvenirs from the local leaders to the national convention, together with literature calling attention of the business and professional women to this part of the coast. Representatives to the Tennessee convention were elected by the Oakland club last night as follows: Delegates, Mrs. Barnard, Miss Bird M. Wilson, alternates, Miss Hopkins, Krueger, Miss Dora B. Cooley. Delegates were instructed to support the invitation of Portland, Ore., to the convention for 1923, arranging to route the representatives through the general

Miss Dora B. Cooley, Miss Jane Bragdon and Miss Mae B. Wilkin have been named to represent the Oakland Business and Professional Women's Club on the general "Save the Redwoods" campaign committee.

The Eastbay cities need fifty miles of new electric lines at once, Guy W. Wolf, director of research of the California Real Estate Board, told the guests last night. Wolf advocated placing on the November ballot an amendment which will give the power of granting franchises to electric railways and motor vehicle lines to the Railroad Commission.

LODI, June 30.—The first carload of plums and apricots was shipped east yesterday by the F. H. Buck and the Stewart fruit companies. Steamship Man's Wife Wins Decree

Her sailor husband had sweet hearts in too many other ports to suit Mrs. Edith M. Hall, 745 Haight avenue, Alameda, according to testimony upon which she was today granted an interlocutory decree of divorce from Captain A. W. Hall, former commander of the Pacific

Steamship Company's fleet of vessels. A letter signed "M," in which the writer told Captain Hall of waiting on shore for a wave of his hand from the bridge as he sailed by, was introduced in evidence. Mrs. Hall declared her husband was more interested in the society of other women than in her, and that he refused to give them up. Also, she said, he continually found fault with her when he was at home. Mrs. Hall was awarded custody of two children, William, 13, and Doris, 11. She was given $100 a month alimony.

TO SPEAK ON SUNDAY. D. J. Gordon will speak to the Association of Christian Young People of the Twenty-third avenue district Sunday evening at 8:30 p. m. at the Centennial Presbyterian church on "Faith in Action."

Don McClure of Oakland Seeks to Head Veterans

America's greatest heroes, members of the "Living Hall of Fame," who are attending the second annual national convention of the Disabled American Veterans of the World War in San Francisco, have been invited to come to Oakland and participate in the Fourth of July celebration next Tuesday. Four have already accepted the invitation and will sit in the reviewing stand at the city hall during the parade.

They are: Major F. J. Sullivan, wearer of the Congressional Medal of Honor; Homer Tomlin of New York, Legion of Honor and D. S. C.; Lieutenant William F. Brittain, Michigan's greatest hero, wearer of the Legion of Honor insignia, the Congressional Medal of Honor, D. S. C. and Victoria Cross; and Joe Teslin of Texas, possessor of four medals and one leg. He lost the other leg in the Argonne.

Mrs. G. H. Taubles of Oakland, former Red Cross overseas worker; Portia Dalton, Y. M. C. A. worker on the Ithine, and Elsie Richards, an army nurse during the war and now connected with the Oakland board of health, will entertain the four heroes while they are in this city.

McClure Mentioned for Commander

The name of Donald McClure of Oakland, assistant district attorney of Alameda county, was mentioned for national commander of the organization, early today, and received strong backing from delegates of the Pacific Coast.

A petition circulated yesterday was presented today with the signatures of the leaders of every district, asking Judge Robert Marx of Cincinnati, present national commander, to be a candidate for re-election. This action was taken as a result of Marx's announcement that he would not run again for office in the national association.

In spite of this almost unanimous demand, it was understood as the convention opened today that Judge Marx would not allow his name to be again brought before the convention.

ELECTION BECOMES CENTER OF INTEREST.

Although the election of officers will not be held until tomorrow, the political cauldron of the organization was seething today, and interest in the prospective choice of officers was at fever pitch. There will be plenty of candidates, especially for the highest positions, it could be plainly seen today.

McClure's name was returned today by the Oakland, San Francisco and Bay delegations, which caucused last night. Strenuous campaigning for him was being done today by the committees who have hopes of boosting the Oakland man over the heads of others into the executive chair of the organization.

Ralph Horr of Seattle, senior vice-commander, has long been a leading candidate for election to the command, particularly in the northwest. He is personally popular, but was not wounded in action. It was predicted that an effort would be made late today to stampede the convention in favor of McClure or Captain H. Hamilton Cook of Buffalo, both wounded overseas veterans with splendid war records.

Miles Sweeney, second vice-commander, is being urged by his friends, and "Im" McFarland of Georgia also has a big backing.

DRASTIC CHANGES BEING URGED.

Thirty-six resolutions, aimed principally at reorganizing the work of the United States Veterans' Bureau, were adopted at the convention yesterday. Many of the resolutions proposed drastic changes in the modus operandi of the bureau; many, by innuendo at least, severely criticized the bureau as at present organized. There might have been some verbal fireworks in connection with the resolutions had it not been that Colonel Robert Forbes, director of the bureau, "put one over the convention" by having one of the best orators in the bureau address the convention.

George M. Hyland, personal representative of Colonel Robert Rees, head of the rehabilitation division of the Veterans' Bureau, appeared unexpectedly on the scene and was allowed the privilege of the floor. He made a strong address, urging the cooperation by the bureau with the bureau, and promising that the employment bureau, under process of formation for the purpose of getting men who have been undergoing vocational training positions, would be fully functioning in thirty days.

Facing a hall filled with men who were checked in the Red Cross, Hyland made a forceful and a tactful speech. He admitted that there were insufficient schools in the United States for the training of the disabled and admitted many other shortcomings of the government bureau, explaining, however, that these shortcomings were being rapidly remedied. He asserted that the success of the bureau, employment unit depends on the cooperation granted by Chambers of Commerce and business organizations throughout the country.

"If they do not help the men who bore the brunt of the fight during the war," he declared, "they are unworthy of the protection our flag affords."

PARTICIPATE IN BANQUET.

One thousand delegates participated in the civic banquet in San Francisco last evening, sponsored by the mayor's citizens' committee. Herbert V. Coffey, chairman of the local convention committee, presided as toastmaster, addresses being made by Chairman Jesse C. Colman of the mayor's citizens' committee; Mayor James Rolph Jr., National Commander Robert E. Marx, National Chaplain Michael Aronson and other executives of the Disabled American Veterans.

After the banquet several of the delegates and their friends were guests at a boxing carnival sponsored by San Francisco Chapter, No. 2, Disabled American Veterans of the World War, at the Arcadia pavilion here. Foremost boxers of the Pacific Coast participated.

K. OF C. TO ENTERTAIN.

Tomorrow afternoon the Knights of Columbus will be hosts to the visiting disabled vets, an afternoon sightseeing tour of the peninsula district terminating at Palo Alto base hospital, where hundreds of wounded and sick "buddies" are now patients. At Palo Alto the "Casey" hospital secretaries will serve luncheon to the visitors and stage an entertainment program for the visiting disabled vets and the hospital patients.

The civic reception and ball, which will formally conclude the convention, is to take place here tomorrow night at the San Francisco Civic Auditorium. Supervisor and Lieutenant Colonel Jesse C. Colman, chairman of the mayor's citizens' committee, is chairman of the big affair, for which San Francisco's magnificent auditorium has been especially decorated, and arrangements made to accommodate a tremendous attendance of visitors and local people.

"California should have a State Publicity Bureau in order that the people may be shown the attractions of the entire State of California as they are those of such cities as Los Angeles and San Diego, which communities know how to advertise and publicize by advertising," said Arthur A. Wendern, candidate for the Senate, when speaking before the Progressive Businessmen's Club at the Hotel California yesterday afternoon. "California has room for ten times its present population and can support more than ten times its present industrial enterprises. Increased assessable valuation caused by new Industrial enterprises and new residences, is the way to keep taxes from going higher in California, and increased population will come as a result of the establishment of a Publicity Bureau, and the rate can be kept from mounting any no better way."

Semi-Finals Of Hillcrest Golf Reached

"Chick" Evans Meets F. Wright; Von Elm-Wolff Clash Today.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 30. (By the Associated Press.)—"Chick" Evans of Chicago was one down to Fred Wright of Los Angeles at the end of nine holes of their 36 hole semi-final match in the Western Open Golf Tournament. Wright had four birdies and "Chick" was wild at the start, but soon settled down to perfect golf. Evans had a par 37 and Wright was 2 under. Evans won the first with a par 3 while Wright's three putts gave him four. "Chick" then became wilder than a beginner, dubbing a drive, slicing an approach and hooking an 18th hole putt. Wright's three birdies on the second, third and fourth gave him a two-hole advantage. Evans then settled down, hitting the green and sinking the sixth when Wright drove in the rough and was short on an approach. A 20-foot putt for a birdie 2 up again won. Evans' 30-foot putt rimmed the cup and par 3 resulted. "Chick" cut the lead to one hole with a 31-foot putt for a birdie 1 on the 18th and eighth and then hit the green on the 19th, leaving Wright one up. The cards: Par out 345, 544, 354-37. Evans out 345, 544, 354-37. Wright out 344, 545, 354-35.

Clarence Foltz of St. Louis made the nine-hole turn one up on George Von Elm of Salt Lake City in the other semi-final match. Wolff had a 38 and Von Elm had 39. Von Elm halved the first in bad fours and also even on the second. Von Elm then reached the third green in 2 and was in two putts for a birdie four and the hole. Wolff came right back with a birdie on the next, evening the match when was Von Elm's best. The fifth was halved but Wolff took the sixth and seventh in pars. Von Elm being over on the eighth. Wolff made a par drive for each and Von Elm's 30-foot run up putt on the ninth won the hole and left him one down. The cards: Wolff out 445, 554, 558-58; Von Elm, out 444, 555, 553-53.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 30.—(By the Associated Press.)—The real fight in the western amateur golf tournament began today at the Hillcrest course with "Chick" Evans of Chicago meeting Fred Wright of Los Angeles, and George von Elm of Salt Lake City facing Clarence Wolff of St. Louis in the semi-final rounds to decide what two men will fight it out tomorrow for the title, now held by Evans for the sixth time.

Evans, in fighting for the final chance to defend his title, faced a man with an international reputation in Fred Wright. The slim young Chicagoan, who has been in into real prominence two years ago when he was the last American to be put out in the British amateur tournament, Evans, national champion that year, was out in the first round of that match.

During the present tournament, Wright tied the course record of 70—three under par—in one of the early rounds. His card, which has shown a total either under par or within a stroke or two of perfect figures.

EVANS STILL GOOD. "Chick's" average figure have not quite equaled Wright's but he shot the more sensational game in one round and his work has been up to the high Evans' standard. Shortly after Wright tied the course record at 70, "Chick" broke it with 67, made in the second qualifying rounds.

"Chick's" game yesterday, when he put out Ted Payson of Des Moines, was typical of his play, but not being forced to extend himself, took things easy and consequently did not turn in a par medal score.

George von Elm has played the greatest golf of any man thus far. His total scores for qualifying and match rounds are within a stroke or two of par and several times he has gone under the ideal figures. Yesterday he eliminated Francis Gaines of Omaha, Neb., 2 and 7, turned in a 71—two under par—for the first 18 and shot the third nine holes in 34—three under par. His card, which was golf that had never been seen on a local course. Von Elm holds two titles now—trans-Mississippi and Pacific northwest. He has won 29 out of 30 tournament matches in the past three years, the only defeat being at the hands of Jess Guilford, national champion, in the national amateur play at St. Louis last year.

CHICAGO, June 30.—Fight fans here will have a chance to glimpse Benny Leonard, lightweight champion, in action when he begins training at a local gym for his fight at Michigan City, Ind., with Rocky Kansas of Buffalo. Leonard will work out here today and go to Michigan City tomorrow. He will be a spectator tonight when Charlie White, one of his leading rivals, and Ever Hammer will meet in a ten-round bout.

WITH THE KNIGHTS OF THE GLOVES

BY BOB SHAND.

T. J. Simpson, the young West Oakland Impresario, has certainly spread himself for the Fourth of July. Instead of offering the usual single main event, Mister Simpson has signed up three battles, any of them good enough to grace the top of any man's card. To top off the class there will be a real honest-to-goodness world's champion in one of the bouts.

The gent is Panama Joe Gans, a colored chap who has kicked everything his weight in the east. After Mister Gans had gone through all the colored middleweights and welterweights, Tex Rickard presented him with a $3000 diamond studded belt emblem of the championship.

In looking around for an opponent, T. J. S. picked on another champion, Frankie Dempsey, undisputed champ of Twelfth and Broadway and Tony Duro's bar-bor. Having won the belt, there was nobody left for Joe to belt, so he came west like the young men are often advised to do.

The customers will welcome the return of Jimmy Dundee to the game. Jimmy was always a crowd puller, and the local customers and invariably have them a run for their money. He meets Joe King Leopold, who recently returned from the east.

Frankie Gorman, brother of Joe and Eddie, will make his debut as a little four-rounder when he boxes Joe Avery in the curtain raiser. Frankie has been working out with the boys and seems to know his stuff.

Joe Lynch and Johnny McManus, and the Eagles-Clumpston battle should be worth while.

Dynamite Joe Murphy took a decision over Joe Lynch at the real fight in the western amateur golf tournament began today at the Hillcrest course with "Chick" Evans of Chicago meeting Fred Wright of Los Angeles, and George von Elm of Salt Lake City facing Clarence Wolff of St. Louis in the semi-final rounds to decide what two men will fight it out tomorrow for the title, now held by Evans for the sixth time.

Women to Compete In Canoe Tilting

Canoe championships for women will be a prominent feature of the carnival which will be held at Riverview Inn, Monte Rio, on August 6. Not since July, 1920, have the women competed in canoe events, but they will compete in the canoe championships in the county. The event will be held in the Monte Rio carnival—the 100 yards singles, the 220 yards doubles and the 220 yards mixed doubles.

The following girls are prominent contenders for honors in the championship races: Jollis Hughes, Opie Costa, Margaret Gehb and Verna Nice. Many of the Russian river country girls will also take part in the races and will give the bay cities paddlers a hard fight for supremacy.

Duke Kahanamoku Is Winner in South

LOS ANGELES, June 30.—Duke Kahanamoku, Hawaiian swimmer, set a new Southern California record for the 50-yard dash at the Los Angeles Athletic Club last night, when he swam that distance in 23.4 seconds, defeating Walter Grace of the club, Pacific Coast champion, by a length.

The Duke swam the 100-yard event in 55 seconds flat, defeating Tom Blake of the club. He set a number of Pacific coast and Southern California records, by more than two lengths.

In the 100-yard free style Jack Johnson of the Olympic club at San Francisco, easily defeated S. J. Davis, of Texas, in a straight falls last night. The champion won the first fall in 43 minutes 20 seconds and the second in two minutes 40 seconds, both with a head lock.

Bettens Is Winner In Chicago Tourney

CHICAGO, June 30.—Bill Bettens of San Francisco, California, defeated R. R. Coffin of Philadelphia, won their first match in the men's doubles of the Illinois state tennis championship tournament at Skokie Country Club yesterday by defeating Seymour and Seymour, brothers of Chicago, 6-0, 6-2.

William Tilden II of Germantown, world's tennis champion, won his fourth round match in the men's singles, defeating Arthur Hubbell of Chicago, 6-1, 6-3.

Champ Wants To Postpone Match a Year

Rickard Unable to Stage Big Fight Until Next Summer; Delay Is Desired.

By DAVIS J. WALSH, International News Service Sports Editor.

NEW YORK, June 30.—Word of mouth acceptance of the Willis challenge by Jack Dempsey, speaking for Jack Dempsey, means that the biggest of all sports extravaganzas will be signed sealed and delivered precisely one year before it can possibly take place. It means that Dempsey and Kearns have decided to play along with the wordy edicts of the New York State Athletic Commission, without, however, any intention of letting that body push them headlong into an early date.

Tex Rickard reiterated today that he would not be able to stage such a match before next summer. That may be tantamount to saying that the bout will not take place before that time. Rickard and Kearns are a hand-in-glove proposition.

Another fact that would seem to indicate 1922 date for the match is the tendency to eat regularly displayed by Dempsey since early childhood. If he should meet Willis on Labor Day and knock the black for a sequence of ebony dominoes, there will be no more matches for Dempsey. He will then have cleaned the field.

If Willis is shelved until next summer the champion can take on Brennan, Greb, Willard and others under the guise of preparatory matches and the exchequer will be replenished accordingly.

The 1923 date, therefore, is almost inevitable. So is the fact that the bout will take place in New York. Governor Miller, interviewed on the subject, has declared himself in favor of the affair, the boxing commission has counted on both the challenge and acceptance and the public is already a promoter to say it with greenbacks.

Trapshooters Make Records With Targets

Trapshooting performances are exceptionally good this year. Phil Miller ran 331 straight in the Oklahoma tournament, and in the same tournament Frank Troeh ran 341 with the old 315 Winchester. Fred Tomlin ran 345 straight in the Pennsylvania State shoot and in the same tournament William B. Cochran ran 247. Boyd Dundee ran 247 and 219 in state championships in the South.

In the Pennsylvania State shoot Troeh was always been regarded as one of the best. There are many who believe that Troeh is the best amateur trapshot in the world. Troeh and Miller engaged in a tie contest in Oklahoma. In the 400 targets shot, Troeh had 395 and Miller broke 395 and Troeh 398. On the 550 targets shot at all distances, with 100 in the hand, Phil shot in a rain storm they broke 543.

No shooter has yet broke 200 straight in winning a state championship. Billy Heer broke 199 in Oklahoma and Frank Wright 199 in New York. Fred Tomlin broke 200 straight in Pennsylvania and Phil Miller 200 straight in Oklahoma, but neither was eligible.

Quite a number of new shooters are coming through this year. The fact that it is not necessary to win the state title to shoot in the National Championship event may have something to do with this, but at the same time the newcomers are making fine scores. In New Jersey, M. S. Haines, who won the title, is virtually a new man at the game. He broke 98 out of 110 targets in 1920 and averaged 94 per cent on 2155 targets last year. This year he shot at 100 targets prior to the New Jersey state shoot he broke 100 straight the first day, 105 out of 200 the second, 99 out of 100 the third, 334 out of 400, an average of 98 per cent. There are quite a number of shooters like Haines this year.

Many championship tournaments have been conducted, but it has been necessary to switch the dates on a few. The Eastern Zone handicap, scheduled for Montreal, will move then 11 days to be held in Toronto, although Trenton, N. J., at Providence, R. I., are said to be in the field.

Kansas City Tosser Refuses to Report

KANSAS CITY, June 30.—A deal to transfer John Russell, a pitcher obtained by the Kansas City American Association baseball team, to the Dallas team of the Texas League was announced as completed yesterday, but it is understood Russell refused to go to Dallas. President Muehlbach indicated Russell probably would go to a Western League team.

Ichiya Kumagai Is Winner Over Bates

SAN FRANCISCO, June 30.—Ichiya Kumagai, Japanese Davis cup tennis player, defeated Wallace Bates, University of California star, 6-3 and 6-2 in an exhibition match in Tokyo, June 5, according to mail advices received here yesterday.

Dieck Conrad, Ichiya, defeated Tanaka of the Tokyo Club, 6-3, 6-2, the same day. The Californians are in Japan playing the college teams.

Three Main Bouts Will Be Offered On Holiday Card

MATCHMAKER TOMMY SIMPSON has lined up a rattling card for the afternoon of the Fourth at the Auditorium, Panama Joe Gans, the colored welterweight and middleweight champion of the world, will meet Frankie Dempsey, the champion of Twelfth and Broadway, in the main event.

Jimmy Dundee returns to the game for a bout with Joe Leopold, and Joe Lynch will tackle Johnny McManus. A flock of special events completes the card. Here is the program:

Frankie Dempsey vs. Panama Joe Gans.
Jimmy Dundee vs. Joe Leopold.
Joe Lynch vs. Johnny McManus.
Harry Eagles vs. Young Campston.
Pete Francis vs. Cap Nelson.
Joe Ketchel vs. Al McManus.
Frankie Gorman vs. Joe Avery.

Phillip Neer Eliminated By Yale Net Star

PHILADELPHIA, June 30.—L. E. Williams, Yale, and Wray Brown, Washington University, St. Louis, will meet in the final round of the singles championship of the Intercollegiate Lawn Tennis Association Saturday as a result of their victories yesterday in the semi-finals round.

Williams provided the biggest upset of the tourney by defeating Phillip Neer, Leland Stanford, the 1921 champion, in straight sets, 6-2, 6-1. Williams played one of the best games of his career, while Neer was handicapped slightly by his injured right knee.

The Yale captain played a very steady game making but few errors. His shots were beautiful. Neer's usual accurate and speedy service was missing and his inability to control this department of his game worried him and affected his play.

Brown earned the right to meet Williams by defeating Walter Webb, Michigan, in a hard-fought match, 4-6, 6-1, 6-4.

Play in the doubles advanced to the fourth round. In the third round Philip Neer and James Davies, Leland Stanford, defeated J. R. Howard and Harold Taylor, Princeton, 6-3, 8-6.

Duffy Murray Is Beaten by Garcia

HOUSTON, Tex., June 30.—Garcia, after knocking Duffy Murray down eleven times in a round and a half was declared the winner over Duffy Murray, of Pittsburgh here last night. Murray was helpless and punished badly.

It costs Dempsey a lot of money to live, there is no doubt. He spends enough on broiled steaks for his kennel to keep a miner's family.

'Round the Sport Circle

By HENRY L. FARRELL, (United Press Sports Editor.)

NEW YORK, June 30.—(United Press.)—Until the bugle blows for the final "Rat In," it never will be settled who was the greatest ball player of all times. Perhaps there will be arguments then.

Debated almost as much is the greatest player of the present day.

If records amount to anything, George Sisler, the great first baseman of the St. Louis Browns, is at least the greatest player of this season.

Any player who can lead the league in batting with .400 or better, who made 100 hits in a little over one-third of a season, who stole 21 bases and scored 46 runs in the same period of time, as well as fielding his position spectacularly, is a great ball player.

Such is Sisler and it looks as if he cannot be approached this season.

With Rogers Hornsby coming as the nearest player next to Sisler, St. Louis ought to establish a baseball college.

Babe Ruth is a great ball player, but he is not a great team asset like Sisler. Ruth is versatile, but Sisler is more of an all-around man. Sisler and Ruth both pitch, play first base and in the outfield. Sisler can do them all better than Ruth.

Sisler never has been pinched for speeding. He never had a crippled hand in an important series and he was never set down for an infraction of the rules.

Charley Comiskey is being taken by the sales for a sucker. If he really paid $125,000 for Willie Kamm, third baseman for the San Francisco club, Major league stars who played on the Pacific Coast last winter, however, think that Comiskey made a smart deal in getting Kamm.

When the deal was made Harry Heilmann, Detroit's champion hitter, wired to a friend on the coast that Kamm was worth more money and that he had never seen a third baseman in his class.

Hornsby, Sisler and Ty Cobb also put their stamp of approval on him.

If Jack Dempsey and Jess Willard are matched for another fight and they draw any kind of a crowd, the English brothers who paid big money to see Carpenter and Ted Lewis will be smart in comparison.

Willard can't be any better than he was in July, 1919, when he was beaten to a pulp by Dempsey and the chances are he will not be in as good condition as he was then.

Carpenter and Lewis were more of a real match than Dempsey and Willard would be. The Englishmen believed that the Frenchman had been severely hurt by Dempsey and that he would be far from the man he was when he fought the champion. They believed that Lewis would have a chance, and he did have a bigger chance than Willard would have against Dempsey in another bout.

Dempsey has a very good way of saying "No" to a good fighter. Wanting $500,000 for an afternoon's work is the best negative in the book.

It costs Dempsey a lot of money to live, there is no doubt. He spends enough on broiled steaks for his kennel to keep a miner's family.

Press agent stuff bounces back many times with a large crash.

Feature Play Of Wimbledon Tourney Today

Molla Mallory Beats Kathleen McKane; Graven Is Eliminated.

Miss Elizabeth Ryan, of Santa Monica, Cal., defeated Mrs. McNair, of England, 4-6, 6-3, 6-0.

WIMBLEDON, June 30.—(By the Associated Press.)—Molla Mallory, of France, who holds the world's women's tennis championship, won her match in the international grass court tournament here today from Miss Kathleen McKane, an English player, 6-1, 7-5.

There was an early crush of spectators today to obtain points of vantage in the amphitheater here for the match between Molla Mallory, the American champion, who today had her first outing on the court, defeating Mrs. Keays, an Anglo-Indian player, 6-0, 6-2. Some of these observers thought Molla Mallory would have won twice.

The next opponent of Miss Elizabeth Ryan of California will be Mrs. McNair, who is considered by the experts to have seen her best tennis days.

Among the other center court matches today will be Lyett and Murguerra, Patterson and Borotra and Kingscott and Lobert.

D. Greig was defeated yesterday by G. C. Caneer, the American player, in the fifth round.

An American appeared for the first time yesterday in the singles championship center court, in the international grass court tennis tournament here when Dean Mathey, 17th in the American national ranking list, met and won from J. Washer, of Belgium, after a hard fight, 6-6, 3-6, 7-5.

Mathey played brilliant tennis in the last two sets, and clinched the match principally through his splendid volleying.

Axel H. Craven, an American Rhodes scholar at Oxford, was the second American on the center court in his match with G. Patterson, the Australian star, who took the match, 6-1, 6-1, 6-4.

Patterson's service was the fastest yet seen at Wimbledon this year. He created a fine impression with his backhand drive, which always was fast and safe. He won many aces on his hurricane forehand, although he still displayed a tendency to net. His volleying in general, however, was superb, and Craven was simply overweighed.

Wimbledon, June 30.—Fifteen crack oarsmen of the San Diego Rowing Club left here today on the steamer Yale for San Francisco, where they will compete Tuesday with rival clubs of the Pacific Association of Amateur Oarsmen. Ted Johnson, senior singles champion, was among them and will defend his title in the north.

Thye and Meyers To Meet Tonight

SPOKANE, Wash., June 30.—Ted Thye of Portland and Johnny Meyers of Chicago, claimant of the middleweight wrestling championship, will meet in here late this afternoon for their bout here tonight. The winner is expected to immediately challenge Walter Miller of Los Angeles, another claimant, in an effort to definitely establish the holder of the title.

Jack Dempsey Accepts Terms To Meet Wills

Champion Announces Willingness to Meet Colored Contender for Title.

NEW YORK, June 30.—Before many moons Jack Dempsey and Harry Wills may be down on paper to fight somewhere, some time, for the world's heavyweight championship.

The New York Boxing Commission announced Dempsey has officially accepted the challenge of Wills, and preliminary negotiations are on.

Jack Kearns, the champion's manager, asked Paddy Mullins, who handles the affairs of the colored fighter, to meet him as soon as possible and arrange terms. Then they will go seeking a promoter.

It's about five minutes in a taxi from Kearns' office to Madison Square Garden and it will take only five minutes and a taxi to find the promoter, unless Kearns decides to stage the bout himself. While it is highly important to get the two fighters signed to battle each other, the hardest part of the negotiations remains in finding the place and deciding on the date.

The chances are 100 to 1 against getting the two in the ring before the middle of next summer.

Three good sites are under consideration—New York, Montreal and Windsor.

Leonard May Meet Winner of Contest

CHICAGO, June 30.—Charlie White and Ever Hammer, 135-pounders, will meet in the main event of the boxing show at Aurora tonight in a contest that may mean a crack at the lightweight championship for the winner.

Benny Leonard, the champion, has met both fighters and an effort is being made to arrange a match with Leonard with the victory in tonight's match.

San Diego Oarsmen Are On Way North

SAN DIEGO, June 30.—Fifteen crack oarsmen of the San Diego Rowing Club left here today on the steamer Yale for San Francisco, where they will compete Tuesday with rival clubs of the Pacific Association of Amateur Oarsmen. Ted Johnson, senior singles champion, was among them and will defend his title in the north.

Thye and Meyers To Meet Tonight

SPOKANE, Wash., June 30.—Ted Thye of Portland and Johnny Meyers of Chicago, claimant of the middleweight wrestling championship, will meet in here late this afternoon for their bout here tonight. The winner is expected to immediately challenge Walter Miller of Los Angeles, another claimant, in an effort to definitely establish the holder of the title.

FIVE MORE POLES FOR LAKE LIGHT PLAN DONATED

The total number of donations has long ago passed the fifty mark. Commissioner W. J. Baccus, head of the committee, is now calling the matter to the attention of

DEFINITION OF 'FACTORY' WILL DETERMINE CASE

Upon the exact definition of the word "factory" may depend the fate of one enameling shop and perhaps the whole future adjudication of questions affecting residence districts throughout the city.

The question came up before the city council yesterday, and was postponed one week pending investigation. It concerned an enameling shop which bought a lot at about 731 Sycamore street and wants to build. Sycamore street neighbor objected. They asserted that they wanted their residence zone held inviolate.

The ensuing discussion brought out that a residence zone bars "factories" but does not define shops. The council held that if the enameling shop is not a "factory" there is nothing the council can do to bar the enameling works. On the other hand, if it is a "factory" it is automatically banned from the neighborhood.

Attorney James M. Koford, representing the enameling shop, pleaded that the council refrain from adopting a new ordinance to cover this particular case.

Commissioner A. E. Carter admitted that discretion must be exercised in this case because it will affect so many throughout the city in the future.

Many neighbors made heated protests against allowing the shop in their vicinity, while J. Woods, representing the new Industries committee of the Chamber of Commerce, pleaded that the shop be built.

All the contending factions will confer with City Attorney Luan E. Gray to evolve the exact definition of the word "factory."
